

TACTFULNESS depends on circumstances. "Have you ever been in jail?" the writer asked a fellow newspaperman to whom he had just been presented. "Yes," was the reply, rather proudly given. "Three years, all told; and I have been suppressed 128 times. I think that is the world record."

The unabashed jail bird was Mr. C. U. Song, editor of the "Dang-ilba" of Seoul, Korea, the Nationalist paper of the Korean people. Because his crime was loyalty to the independence of his people, and his treason was to a foreign conqueror, the much-suppressed editor was proud of it. And in a free country, on neutral soil, he could say it safely. Now, when he returns home, he should get into trouble by reason of this quotation—trouble is just where he lives.

"We give Japan its ancient civilization and culture," say the Koreans. "Now, because they are ahead of us in modern guns and machines, the Japanese pretend we are not fit for self-government, and seek to abolish our nation by annexation and extinguish our race by intermarriage. We have submitted, but not surrendered. Korea will live."

This, of course, is only the Korean side. There is a Japanese one. But the point is that the Korean side seeks and finds utterance.

CHINA and Japan are presumably too intelligent to come into conflict. But if there were a clash, which would win?

Japan, of course, if it were a matter of battle. While the Chinese provincial armies are the largest in the world, they are also about the loosest and the most useless. Their only function is to fight each other, and to disturb the peace and eat up the substance of China. Against a modern army like the Japanese, they would be helpless.

BUT the Chinese have other weapons, more Oriental and more effective than any trial by battle. China is the one country in the world where non-resistance pacifism really works. "Let Japanese troops march where they please," they say, "and set up flags and govern as they will. Why bother to fight them? Why bother to do anything, when we can be more effective by just doing nothing?"

"Japan needs our coal and iron. We simply sit still, and do not mine it. Japan needs our trade. We sit, and neither buy nor sell. Japan needs our food. We eat it ourselves. A year, ten years, a thousand years if necessary, we just do nothing but raise and eat our own food, as our ancestors did. We could stand that forever. Japan would be paralyzed in a year. We are not afraid."

EVERYBODY in Japan, except a few jingoists and militarists, realizes this. Therefore, the issue will not be raised. For the safety of Japan, its relations to China must be constructive and helpful. Sometimes Chinese and Japanese will not agree on what is helpful; sometimes they will distrust each other; sometimes neither will trust the Western powers; sometimes the investment of capital, with its stake in peace and order, will seem invasion or exploitation. All these things have happened and are happening between the United States and Mexico, whose interests are nevertheless bound by the closest ties. They are bound to happen between China and Japan. But in the long run truth prevails. And the long truth is that it is to Japan's interest to treat China fairly, and that, on the showdown, China is stronger than Japan.

Army Test Flyer Uninjured When Forced to Land

OMAHA, July 31.—The first accident to the transcontinental flight of six army Curtiss airplanes, which have been testing the transcontinental air route, occurred early today when Lt. Lund's plane was forced to land in darkness near Rumbold, La.

Lund was not injured, according to word reaching here, but it is understood that his machine was put out of commission.

The squadron left here at 3:15 a. m. for Chicago, after arriving at 11:20 p. m. from Cheyenne.

They set a new record for night flying by making the 507 miles from the Wyoming city in three hours and 57 minutes.

MAKE THREE-HOUR HALT IN CORDOVA

CORDOVA, Ill., July 31.—Five army airplanes dropped off here for Chicago at 9:05 a. m., after a three-hour halt in their jaunt to that city from Omaha.

Chicago Starts Fight On Crime

CHICAGO, July 31.—Aroused to action by the daring robbery of the Drake hotel and of the murder of a clerk, who offered no resistance, Chicago civic bodies today joined forces in an active crusade against crime. The state attorney's office has obtained three indictments against the three surviving bandits. Police announced the capture of the single missing robber was imminent.

Launch Dirigible Air Line Project

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 31.—A New York-Atlantic City air service project was launched here today—the first commercial airship line in America. A giant dirigible, capable of carrying 45 passengers, will be used in this air service, according to present plans.

NIP RED PLOT TO KILL COOLIDGE

Bryan Rests with Distinguished Dead

COMMONER'S BODY BURIED IN ARLINGTON

Notables Attend Services
For Leader of Fundamentalists in Washington

BUGLER SOUNDS TAPS Drizzle Beats on Pastor And Assembled Crowd As Last Rites Are Said

(By United Press)
ARLINGTON NATIONAL CEMETERY, Arlington, Va., July 31.—William Jennings Bryan, the Commoner, was buried this afternoon on a knoll in a far corner of Arlington cemetery, among the nation's distinguished war dead.

After services at the "Church of the Presidents," attended by 1000 persons, the body was borne through the streets of Washington in a drizzling rain, across the Potomac river and up to the green and wooded heights where lie the Unknown Soldier and heroes of five wars.

While Mrs. Bryan sat in her wheel-chair surrounded by relatives, friends and government officials, the last brief rites were read by an army bugler sounded "taps" and the body was lowered into the grave.

Benediction is pronounced. The drizzle beat down upon bared heads as Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, Presbyterian pastor, read the service. As the last rites were performed, the last rites were performed with the benediction.

"For as much as it hath pleased Almighty God to take our brother, we therefore commit his body to the ground; earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust; looking for the general resurrection in the last day and life of the world to come, through our Lord, Jesus Christ."

The coffin, as it lay in the church, was banked with flowers, and a rose-bud spray, ordered by President Coolidge from the White House, was upon it.

Bryan, the widow, and 16 members of the family, sat in front pews where Abraham Lincoln and nine other presidents had worshipped.

Officials at Services
Secretary of State Kellogg and a delegation of diplomats from the state department sat on one side of the church. Groups of the Commoner's comrades-in-arms from the Spanish-American war, and American Legion members in uniform were further back. A score of senators and congressmen in frock coats were there, as were leading politicians with whom Bryan was associated.

The church was almost dark in the gloom of the afternoon rain.

The Rev. Mr. Sizoo, opened his eulogy with a declaration of how the entire course of his life and career had been a preparation for this day.

"He had a capacity for nobility," he said. "He had a deep capacity for love and he had a deep capacity for faith."

"Nothing else explains the greatness of the man like the greatness of his faith. That was unchallengeable, irresistible and burned with a quenchless fire. His life was shot through and through with it and in every utterance of his there was welled up this constant assurance. His life seemed to be a long, unbroken prayer."

"What a challenge is such a life to all who follow! what a challenge to all who believe! what an indictment upon all who reject it; what a prophecy of power to all who make it real!"

Crossing the Bar
Mrs. Bryan picked the same verse selected by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson for reading at the funeral of Woodrow Wilson, Tennessee's "Crossing the Bar."

A mixed quartet, accompanied by the organ, toned the solemn words of the hymn, "The Night Is Dark and I Am Far From Home; Lead Thou Me On."

The widow and members of the family entered the church after the singing and the Rev. Mr. Sizoo began the services with reading of the following:

"I am the resurrection and the life, saith the Lord; he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet he shall live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die."

"None of us liveth to himself and no man dieth to himself. For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; whether we die, we die unto the Lord."

"For this end Christ both died and rose and revived, that He might be Lord both of the dead and the living."

"We brought nothing into this world and it is certain we can carry nothing out."

DEATH STROKE INVENTOR SEES WARFARE'S END

(By United Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—A man-made lightning bolt, intelligently directed in the cause of peace, is the "death stroke" which he will demonstrate for the U. S. navy in September. Dr. Edwin R. Scott, inventor, told the United Press here today.

"War is terrible, but the more terrible it is made, the less the likelihood of war," he said. "I hope that the devastating destruction of the 'death stroke' in the hands of the United States will make other powers realize the foolishness and futility of attacking this country."

"This test, which has been arranged for the middle of the Pacific ocean, probably late in September, will show the world that nature's dynamic force, lightning, can be reproduced and controlled."

Red Tape Finally Cut
"Scoffers doubt, and I have had an awful time cutting through the red tape of officialdom to arrange for this test, but I am going into this knowing what I am doing."

"People generally believe that Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz's 'thunder and lightning' machine was destroyed because of its terrific power. They're wrong. I got the original parts and the plans. My 'death stroke,' though, is improved and I confidently believe will deal death and destruction at a range of 20 miles. It will make war impossible."

"My apparatus probably will be housed within a base 25 by 30 feet, with a superstructure 15 to 20 feet in height. It will weigh more than five tons. It is not a toy. Other experimenters have made lightning bolts six feet in length, using a million volts. Judge of the power of the 'death stroke' projected 20 miles."

Would Sell Invention
Dr. Scott admits he wants to sell his invention to the government for a "lot of money."

"I have no relatives and I can't take it away with me. I want the money to help people who are counting on me for help. I want to do some good for the worthy as well as preventing future wars," he said.

"But the 'stroke' must go to America," he said. "I will make personal inspection to see no foreigners of any kind are present when the test is made. My parents were born in Ireland, but I'm American—150 per cent American—and no foreign power is going to have this. The British air ministry deposited $25,000 once in the Riggs National bank to secure a test, but I turned it down."

Effort to Save Widow from Poison Fails

MODESTO, Calif., July 31.—Mrs. Ila Meade, young widow, was dead here today after a vain attempt by her fiancé, Ed Thorsen, to drive her 10 miles to a doctor after she had taken poison.

"Ed, dear, let me die in your arms," he said she gasped as he drove up to his ranch home and she told him she had taken poison.

The girl was dead when he reached the doctor.

No reason for suicide was given in a farewell note left by her.

SLAYER BRAVE AS HE GOES TO GALLOWS DEATH

(By United Press)
SAN QUENTIN, July 31.—Charles Craig, 22, was hanged here today for the murder of Sam Hermanson, forest ranger, July 10, 1924.

Craig marched bravely to his death, mounting the gallows at 10 a. m. sharp. One minute later the trap was sprung. Prison physicians pronounced him dead 12 minutes later.

Craig was accompanied on his death march by the Rev. W. H. Bundy, of Oakland, who had given him solace during his last days. The condemned man said nothing on the gallows and did not look at the 35 spectators below him.

Earlier in the day, the youth told the Rev. Mr. Bundy and the Rev. S. P. Pope, of Red Bluff, that he did not fear death.

"I have read the Bible and am ready to die," he said. "I am convinced that some day I will return to earth in another form."

Craig and Jack Baker were convicted of slaying Hermanson, who attempted to stop them after they had robbed a Red Bluff bank. Baker pleaded guilty and was given a life sentence. Craig was sentenced to hang. His execution was held up by one appeal.

Increase Fire Guard as Deer Season Opens

SACRAMENTO, July 31.—State fire wardens and rangers have been warned to increase their vigilance with the deer hunting season, which opens tomorrow in several sections of the state.

In a bulletin to all wardens and rangers, issued today, State Forester M. B. Pratt asks that unusual precautions be taken to prevent fires and instructs them to employ additional rangers if necessary.

The deer season opens in the following counties tomorrow: Riverside, Kern, Madera, Fresno, Kings, Tulare, Merced, Stanislaus and San Joaquin.

MYSTERY BLAST IN LABORATORY KILLS CHEMIST

(By United Press)
MARTINEZ, Calif., July 31.—Investigation was under way here today to determine the cause of the explosion which killed Charles Henry Schwartz, chemist, at his laboratories near here.

It was believed that Schwartz was working on secret formulas for the production of artificial silk from cellulose, as he had already developed a $75,000 damage suit June 9 by a schoolteacher, a native of Geneva, Switzerland, who claimed the chemist had made love to her under promise of marriage, concealing that he already was married.

The chemist-inventor, an Austrian by birth, and graduate of several European universities, asserted the suit was an attempt to damage his reputation and was fostered by a group of Europeans who sought his discoveries.

Find Strychnine In Picnic Lunch

HEALDSBURG, Calif., July 31.—What appears to have been a plot to poison a picnic party was investigated here today, with one arrest probable, authorities said.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Holpin and family and Postmaster and Mrs. George Pearson spent Sunday at Wright's Beach. Someone in the party noticed a white powder sprinkled over part of their lunch. The food was not eaten. Upon returning home, Holpin gave some of the lunch to the family and the animal died.

Archie Hewitt, Santa Rosa chemist, pronounced the powder strychnine.

"This money was coming to us and we got it," Edwards said, in giving the Auto Club of Southern California and Gov. Friend W. Richardson credit for assistance in securing the appropriation of this money, as well as assisting in getting a larger appropriation for Southern California from the reconstruction fund. The Coast highway is now under construction.

Governor Names Judges at Beach

LONG BEACH, July 31.—Gov. Friend W. Richardson today appointed Charles B. Wallace and Stephen G. Long as municipal judges of Long Beach.

Hammocks May Be Swung on Planes

SAN DIEGO, July 31.—Hammocks may be swung in the tail of the PB-1 in the navy's non-stop Hawaiian flight, to allow fliers to snatch a few hours' rest during the grind, it was said here today.

The flight is expected to take 25 hours or more. Capt. Stanford E. Moses, in charge of arrangements, is expected here August 12 from Hawaii to inspect the planes which will make the trip. The fliers will leave San Francisco about August 23.

STATE'S ROAD PROGRAM FOR COUNTY TOLD

Widening of Highway from Santa Ana to Fullerton
Planned by Commission

SAFE IRVINE CROSSING Edwards Outlines Proposed Improvement at Meeting Of Associated Chambers

THE STATE HIGHWAY commission contemplates reconstruction work in Orange county for next year as follows:

Widening of the highway from Santa Ana to Fullerton and from Santa Ana to Tustin.

Widen Chapman street bridge, or building new structure.

Separation of grade crossing at Callivan.

Separation of grade crossing at Serra, on coast highway. Rebuilding of highway between Callivan and El Toro.

Construction of underground or overhead crossing on Southern Pacific right-of-way, where the Coast boulevard strikes the railroad right-of-way near the bridge on the Newport boulevard crossing the Santa Ana river.

This information was presented by N. T. Edwards, of Orange, state highway commission, in a discussion of the problems of the highway commission at the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, held at the Palm cafe, San Juan Capistrano, last night.

The commissioner said that county and state money is available for separation of the grade crossing at Irvine, on the Santa Fe, one of the most dangerous crossings in the county, and that construction work would start just as soon as the Santa Fe would appropriate money for its share of the cost and satisfactory arrangements could be made with James Irvine.

The cost of construction is to be divided three ways—state, county and railway company. Edwards said Irvine wanted the present grade crossing continued for use by tenants on his ranch in hauling products to the warehouse, while the railway officials insisted on entire elimination of the grade crossing.

Edwards said Irvine was right in his contentions, and pointed out that the balance would be of real service to the tenants.

Discussing the Coast highway in Orange county, the commissioner pointed out that bids would be opened next Monday for improving the section between Newport Beach and Laguna. There will be four miles of concrete pavement on the Newport end and the balance will be improved with rock and oil.

Plans and specifications have been prepared for grading and improving with rock and oil the section between Laguna and Serra, and bids will be called for next Monday or the following week.

Pointing out that the commission has only $5,000,000 to spend on improvement of the new roads in the state in 1926 and 1927, the commissioner said $435,000 of the 1925 budget had been apportioned to Orange county, the sum being equal to the total appropriated for the 45 northern counties. The total appropriation to all state construction work in 1925 was $2,690,000, the southern counties getting $2,255,000.

"This money was coming to us and we got it," Edwards said, in giving the Auto Club of Southern California and Gov. Friend W. Richardson credit for assistance in securing the appropriation of this money, as well as assisting in getting a larger appropriation for Southern California from the reconstruction fund. The Coast highway is now under construction.

The commission expects to have available for reconstruction and maintenance work the next two years approximately $22,000,000. The fund will be developed by registration fees and gasoline tax.

In debating with J. S. Thurston certain points as to the right-of-way for the Coast highway across Thurston's property at Allis canyon, Edwards intimated that the state would get busy at once on certain features of the improvement, this being made possible by condemnation suits started for rights-of-way.

Reciting that the commission had spent $600,000 in correcting mistakes in laying out and building the Coast highway in San Diego county, the commissioner said that other work on that road contemplated for the next two years would result in removal of all grade crossings between Santa Ana and San Diego, with the possible exception of Irvine, and crossings within the city limits of San Diego.

Pays $400 to Have Her Husband Slain

CHICAGO, July 31.—Calmly and in a matter-of-fact voice, Mrs. Nellie Noble today told police she paid $400 to have her husband killed because he annoyed her 15-year-old daughter by another marriage. The payment was made out of her husband's insurance policy of $6000, she said.

Andrew Capo and James Sulino are under arrest. Capo fired the fatal shot, the woman said. The killing came a few days after Mrs. Noble made her arrangements with Capo.

COAL CRISIS IN BRITAIN IS HELD UP FOR 2 WEEKS

(By United Press)
LONDON, July 31.—Premier Baldwin announced today that there had been a provisional settlement of the coal crisis.

The owners have suspended for a fortnight their lockout notices, which were to have been effective at midnight tonight.

The premier said that the miners' executive committee had telegraphed the districts:

"Notices suspended; continue work."

Baldwin explained that the "provisional settlement" was subject to confirmation of the miners in the various districts throughout Britain.

Forsee Industrial Crisis The suspension caused relief throughout Britain, for the threatened coal stoppage, it was feared, would bring a tremendous industrial crisis in its wake.

The suspension followed Premier Baldwin's midnight announcement of the government's readiness to grant the mine owners a subsidy to tide them over the winter. Meanwhile, the fortnight delay would be utilized toward installation of a royal commission to study the coal industry and an effort toward negotiations for prolongation of the withdrawal of the notices.

Premier Baldwin's announcement brought the first certainty London had as to the situation, for in the morning there had been published reports that the mine owners "officially" announced withdrawal of notices, and other reports that they had "decided to withdraw" them. The stories were followed by a news agency report, shortly before noon, that the owners were still meeting, and by other reports indicating that the earlier announcements were "premature" and that there had been a hitch in negotiations.

Situation is Complicated
Adding to the uncertainty as to whether the strike tonight would be averted came an announcement in the early afternoon from A. J. Cook, of the miners' federation, that the owners "have not yet withdrawn their notices." He added that, in some districts, the miners were all bringing up their tools. Meanwhile, Baldwin was negotiating throughout the morning at Montague House, where Winston Churchill, owners and delegates were on hand.

It was not until around 4 o'clock in the afternoon that Baldwin made his definite announcement of success in the house of commons.

The Trans-Union congress notified all affiliated unions that the owners and miners had accepted the government proposals and hence that the ordered embargo on coal movements was withdrawn and unions were to remain at work.

COALITION CABINET IN JAPAN RESIGNS

TOKIO, July 31.—The prince regent, according to all indications today, will ask Premier Kato to form a new cabinet, following resignation of his coalition cabinet last night.

The new cabinet probably will be solely of the Kensei party. The resignation resulted technically from differences between the Kensei and Seiyu parties over taxation, but in reality was the outcome of long-standing political rivalries.

The prince regent postponed his proposed trip to Saghalien because of the cabinet crisis.

Recent Tokio advices said that political rivalries between the Seiyu and Kensei parties would soon result in a cabinet crisis, after which it was predicted Gen. T. Tanaka, former counselor of the Japanese embassy in Washington, might become premier. Tanaka, however, is now reported to be seeking to get the Seiyu party and himself into power after the next general election.

U. S. AGENTS NAB SUSPECT IN FLORIDA

Federal Detectives Arrest
Alleged Leader of Band
Of Anarchists in Tampa

LONG CHASE IS ENDED Authorship of Threatening Letters to President Is Declared to Be Certain

(By United Press)
TAMPA, Fla., July 31.—Norman Klein, wanted in Washington and other cities on a charge of having threatened to kill President Coolidge, was arrested here early today by U. S. secret service agents.

Klein, alias Kaulley, alias Kelly, is the alleged leader of a band of anarchists. Government agents said he had threatened the lives of John D. Rockefeller, Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison, as well as that of the president.

The arrest followed a chase of many months which led secret service agents through many sections of the country.

Klein has revealed that Tampa is the headquarters of anarchists who have plotted the destruction of noted men.

The prisoner's authorship of certain letters, said to have been written to President Coolidge, has been regarded certain by department of justice officials for several months. However, the existence of a band of anarchists in Tampa and a plot to kill Ford and Edison was not suspected until the probe here.

LEWIS CAN'T SEE COAL SETTLEMENT

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 31.—John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, issued a formal statement today, in which he said: "It is obvious to everyone that anthracite coal operators have no intention of arriving at a settlement before the present contract expires."

He was commenting on the negotiations of the miners and owners in progress here.

Lewis said: "It is regrettable that no progress of any character has been made by the conference. The operators occupy their time-honored position of denying everything and yielding nothing."

"They continue to mouth their ancient phrases about wage reduction and arbitration. It is obvious to everyone that they have no intention of arriving at a settlement before the present contract expires."

Will Contestant Held for Contempt

BOSTON, July 31.—Mrs. Ida Manning Blankenburg, of Tulsa, Okla., chief contestant of the $3,000,000 will of the late actress, Lotta Crabtree, was held in contempt of court today by Judge William M. Prest, of Suffolk county probate court, and was ordered to furnish $1000 bond for appearance Tuesday to answer charges of conspiracy, perjury and fraud.

Mrs. Blankenburg, who contended she was the daughter of the late actress, fainted as Judge Prest completed a scathing arraignment of her alleged motives in the case.

FINLEY THINKS APPROPRIATION TO BE MATCHED

Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties will match the appropriation of the state legislature for survey work on the Santa Ana river as a preliminary for conservation of water, in the opinion of Col. S. H. Finley, member of the Orange county board of supervisors, as expressed at the meeting last night, in Capistrano, of the Associated Chambers of Commerce. The boards already have held conferences and will meet again next Monday, when it is probable final decision will be made. The state has appropriated $25,000 on condition that the counties duplicate the sum, making $50,000 available for the investigation work.

It was intimated by Finley that money now appropriated by the three boards each year for conservation work would be temporarily diverted to the $25,000 fund to be raised.

Plans Are Outlined
Following a suggestion by Charles Lee, secretary of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce, that the advertising fund of the county should be increased from 1 mill to 1 1/2 or 1 3/4 mills. Lew H. Wallace, of Newport Beach, moved that recommendation be made to the supervisors that distribution to the advertising fund be on the basis of 2 mills. The motion carried. The higher rates would produce about $30,000 annually, it was said. V. D. Johnson, secretary of the Orange chamber, pointed out that only by this method could all property owners of the county be made to stand a portion of the costs of valuable promotion work.

Making an appeal for support of the county board in a recommendation to the board of supervisors for an appropriation of $700 to defray the space cost for exhibits of Orange county manufactured articles at the Orange County Fair A. M. Stanley, manager, suggested that steps be taken at once to secure a county site for the fair and for the California Valencia Orange show, in Anaheim. The suggestion for the appropriation was referred to the advertising committee, composed of paid members of commerce secretaries of the county. L. F. Coburn, Orange; Guy Gilbert, Santa Ana, and Harry Riley, Anaheim, were named as a committee to co-operate with the Orange County Farm bureau in the matter of gathering data on possible fair sites and to make recommendations to the board of supervisors. The later committee was appointed on motion of Howard Wassum, of Tustin.

Canadian Excursion
George Robotham, of Laguna Beach, presented plans for an excursion of Orange county boosters, in September, to Canada to interest residents of that country in wintering in Orange county. Declaring that expenses of the trip would not exceed $350 per person, he urged each community in the county to send a representative on the missionary trip.

Immediately following dinner, the Capistrano Chamber of Commerce presented a program of entertainment, with women and children of the mission pageant cast offering the numbers.

The address of welcome was delivered by the Rev. Father John O'Sullivan, priest in charge of the mission in Capistrano. Response was made by L. F. Coburn, of Orange.

The August meeting of the county body will be held in Costa Mesa.

To Probe Real Need of Santa Barbara

Orange county has been assigned by the California Development company a quota of $25,000 for the fund of $1,000,000 being raised throughout the state for financial assistance to Santa Barbara, according to an announcement made last night by George Raymer, of Fullerton, secretary of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county, at a meeting of the organization in San Juan Capistrano. Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, Dr. J. D. Thomas, S. H. Finley and T. B. Talbert were appointed a committee to make investigations as to the real need of the fund, and to suggest plans for the county's co-operation, if the need is urgent and justified.

SHOWS FALL OF ORANGE COUNTY WATER LEVELS

That the water levels in Orange county are lowering very rapidly and that the receding level was 17 feet further from the surface last month than it was in the same month of 1924, was disclosed to men and women present, last night, at the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, in San Juan Capistrano.

The disclosure was made by Fred Alhorn, of Anaheim, chairman of the water conservation committee, who presented detailed data as to water levels over the period of years between 1907 and July of this year.

"Water conservation is becoming more and more the burning question of the hour in Orange county," the committee chairman said. Following are the water levels he quoted:

January 1, 1907, high level, 45 feet; July 1, 1912, low level, 69; April, 1916, high, 47; July 1, 1921, low, 88; April 1, 1922, high, 60; October 1, 1924, low, 92 1/2; March 1, 1923, high, 61; July 1, 1925, low, 102.

Comparing 1924 with 1925, Alhorn showed that the level was 17 feet lower in July of this year than it was in July, 1924. His comparative figures follow:

January, 1924, the level was 80 feet and in 1925 it was 90 feet, 3 inches, a drop of 10 feet 3 inches; February, 1924, 81-7, 1925, 87-1, drop of 5-6 feet; March, 1924, 82-3, 1925, 91-10, drop of 9-7; April, 1924, 82-7, 1925, 89-10, drop of 7-3; May, 1924, 80, 1925, 91-10 1/2, drop of 11-10 1/2; June, 1924, 84-8, 1925, 97-1, drop of 12-5; July, 1924, 85, 1925, 102, drop of 17.

Alhorn pointed out that in the 18-year period the level lowered annually, on an average, 3 feet, while the decline for the last two years averaged more than 20 feet per year.

Dinner will not be served at the gathering next week. Refreshments will be served late in the evening.

MOUNTAIN ROAD IMPOSSIBILITY FOR THIS YEAR

Construction of the Orange county end of the proposed highway across the mountains from San Juan Capistrano to Elsinore is not a possibility of the next year, it was revealed by J. L. McBride, superintendent of county highways, at the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce in the Palm cafe, Capistrano, last night.

Reporting on that project, the superintendent said it was estimated that it would cost $100,000 to build five miles of dirt road necessary to connect with Elsinore road at the Orange-Riverside county line. As surveyed, the road would be 18 feet wide, with a 10 per cent grade the maximum. Pointing out that the original road built in the canyon in 1912 later was washed out, McBride said that the new route was on the side of the canyon and above the high water mark of 1916.

Pointing out that the county had been to heavy expense in procuring right-of-way and in building bridges for the Coast boulevard, the superintendent said that the board of supervisors was not in position to finance the project at this time, and that, under present conditions, the board did not feel it could consistently add to the tax rate the 6-cent rate that would be necessary to provide the funds.

Master Cleaners' Magic

It seems like magic to see soiled and spotted garments going into the running solvents at our plant and coming out as pure as laundered linen. These modern methods require costly equipment, but we find it well worth while, because people want their garments completely and superbly clean, with utmost safety to the fabric.

You'd be interested in the process that works such wonders in a plant like ours, and you are welcome to visit at any time. We are glad to show people through the plant, because until you see with your own eyes you can not imagine the perfection with which cleaning can be done.

Reveal Effects Of Occupations On Men's Teeth

BERLIN, July 31.—In an article on the relation of various occupations and dental diseases, the Social Democratic News service, of Germany, points out that bakers and pastry cooks are the worst sufferers from bad teeth, believed to result from the excess of sugar they consume. Leather workers are inclined to develop a brown discoloring of the teeth, while the molars of lead and silver workers have a tendency to turn blue. Copper workers, unless they brush their teeth incessantly, soon find them turning green in color.

KEEPING A COOL HEAD

Swimming used to have no fashions to write about, but there are traditional unwritten fashions about swimming. One of them was that you should be conspicuously well-turned-out, but not be turned out conspicuously. Darkish colors, unobtrusive trimmings and—rarest of all, a fit—were supposed to mark the get-up of the honest-to-goodness swimmer, as distinguished from the mere towel-wetter or beach Apollo. Other days—other ways! In 1925, the holdest of colors are seen in the swimming suit. Indeed, seemingly they cannot be vivid enough. This is traceable to the veritable furor for color that has gripped the young men of America and driven them to try to outdo one another in the brilliancy of their suits for the dip. Now, color, like lending money, proposing to a girl or ordering chicken croquettes at a strange restaurant, is a thing to be indulged in with discretion. The well-set-up youngster in his teens or twenties may well go in for violently cross-barred swimming shirts, and get away with it. However, put this same loud style upon an older man, who has reached the age when his hairline recedes and his waistline advances, and the effect is downright ridiculous. He is dressing out of his years. The observer will probably exclaim, "Some class," but with the class limit, if you like, but always within the limits of appropriateness and common sense.

Not every swimmer chooses to wear a skull cap. Most men like the freedom of their heads exposed to wind and wave. However, some swimmers like a cap to keep from wetting the hair or to prevent sunburn from blistering the untanned dome. Others, wear a cap to break the impact of cleaving the water in diving. Swimmer's skull-caps, as shown here, are made of rubber, thin, almost transparent oiled silk or heavy worsted in plain colors or vivid stripes. These sometimes, match the cross-bars upon the swimming shirt. Beach sandals, like swimming caps, are not in general use, but they are very serviceable in preventing bruises and cuts from sharp stones and broken shells. Usually, they are made of stout waterproof white canvas, lacing with tapes and being cut low or high.

LIONS HEAR OF INTERNATIONAL MEET IN OHIO

A detailed report by H. B. Van Dien on the social activities of the convention of Lions, at Cedar Point, O., featured the meeting yesterday of the Santa Ana Lions' den at St. Ann's Inn. Harry Hanson, former president of the local club and delegate last year to the international convention, was program chairman. Van Dien was accompanied to Cedar Point by his son, Benton, who was made mascot of the Cedar Point club. Father and son were dressed in the natty uniforms they wore to the convention.

Criticism was made on arrangements made for entertainment of the delegates by the convention city, hotel accommodations and seating capacity for the delegates and visitors being woefully lacking, according to the returned delegate.

Van Dien will present from time to time various features of the convention proper, his time yesterday being too limited for him to discuss actions by the convention. He did refer to action by which individual clubs were advised that they may adopt independent major activities of a local nature without regard to the major activities adopted by the national organization.

Seven members yesterday signified their intention of being present Sunday at services in dedication of the Lions lodge at Camp Osceola, in the San Bernardino mountains. The men will be accompanied by their wives. Representatives from all the clubs in the county are expected to attend. A barbecue dinner will be served at 1 o'clock and dedicatory services will be at 2:30 p. m.

WARN AGAINST OPERATIONS OF FOWL THIEVES

"Watch your chicken coops." That was the warning issued from the sheriff's office today to chicken fanciers throughout Orange county, following another "epidemic" of chicken thefts, which began in the county a week ago.

Three chicken ranches were reported robbed last night, two the night before, and several others at various intervals during the last week.

That the robbers are working in gangs is indicated by the number of thefts in one neighborhood in a single night. All three of the robberies of last night were within a half mile of one another, and the same has been the case in other chicken thefts this week, officers declared.

Thieves stole 25 chickens from the ranch of Karl Martin, two miles north of Garden Grove, on the Garden Grove road, last night. Martin's place was entered last year, and the thieves are thought to have been the same ones who robbed the place at that time. Sixteen chickens were stolen last night from Albert Peters, who resides next door to the Martin place, it was reported, and 20 chickens were taken from the August Headstrom coops, two and a half miles north of Garden Grove.

Constable Ed Marion reported the thefts to the sheriff's office and asked that a warning be sent to chicken owners throughout the county.

Ruth Sands today asked for a divorce from Ray Sands, Santa Ana transfer man, on the grounds that he has treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner and made further domestic relations with him impossible. In her complaint, filed through the law firm of Bishop and Wellington, of Santa Ana, she alleges that she married Sands, June 4, 1925, and separated from him July 28, 1925. The petition recites that there is no community property. She asks temporary alimony.

BAND FUND IS INCREASED TO $2437 TOTAL

With contributions the last few days of $90.11, the fund being raised for the Santa Ana Municipal band today stood at $2437.81, according to a report by Harry Hanson, treasurer.

Most of the increase was the result of activities by members of the Santa Ana Lions club, who reported to the club yesterday on subscriptions during the week.

The club four weeks ago obligated each member to the procuring of pledges totalling $25. Reports yesterday disclosed that the various teams had not raised their quotas, and it was announced by President Harold Wahlberg that the campaign would continue. He expressed the hope that each member would secure his quota by the end of August.

Dysart's orchestra has arranged a band benefit dance for Tuesday evening at the Roamer (Elite) hall, and all proceeds from the dance above actual expenses will be given to the fund. It was announced by H. T. Dysart, who said the orchestra had adopted this plan of doing its bit for the band sustaining fund.

Miss Koegler Is Honored Guest At Farewell Affair

Mme. Manuela V. Budrow was the charming hostess on Monday night last at her home, 1119 Spurgeon street, at a farewell party for one of her talented pupils, Miss Anne Koegler, who is leaving on August 10 for her home in New York city to remain until next January, when she will return to Santa Ana to continue her lessons with Mme. Budrow.

The Budrow home was prettily adorned for the pleasant affair, a pink and blue color tone being artistically carried out. The evening hours were happily whiled away with jolly games and music. Mme. Budrow responded to the entreaties of her guests and rendered several lovely numbers. Miss Koegler, the guest of honor, also sang, Robert Bradford, whose voice is always delightful, rendered several pleasing selections, and Mrs. Ethel Henderson added to the pleasure of the evening with readings.

The table, where a delectable collation was served late in the evening, was a symphony in pink and blue, with a basket filled with cool ferns, in the center. From the tiny baskets, alternating pink and blue, at each cover, stretched the same-hued ribbons, which were utilized to draw clever fortunes, written by the daughter of the home, Miss Rebecca Budrow, from the larger receptacle.

A beautiful cake, iced in delicate pink, was cut, while the guests looked on with keen anticipation, as it held three prizes. Robert Bradford found the thimble, Miss Koegler the dime, and Miss Rebecca Budrow and Robert Bradford were the winners of the pretty little amethyst heart.

Miss Koegler, who has been in Santa Ana for the past year, studying with Mme. Budrow, and making her home with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Flanagan, was showered with good wishes for a pleasant journey and a safe return to her relatives and the hosts of friends she has made during her stay here.

Besides the hostess, and her two daughters, the Misses Rebecca and Louisa Budrow, and Miss Koegler, the honoree, there were present, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. H. Madener, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson, the Misses Helen Allen, Blanche Hillman, Catherine Maroon, Nada Smith, Virginia Bailey, Robert Bradford and Denzel Claypool.

Colony at Forest Home Is Growing

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Barker and family and Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Cloyes and family are spending this week at Forest Home, adding several more to the "Santa Ana Colony" there.

Miss Hattie Whidden also is visiting at Forest Home as a house-guest of the Truebloods.

A Few Helpful Fashion Hints
A stunning sport dress is of heavy white silk crepe bound with black and embroidered with black on the two front pockets. Flowers of velvet or georgette crepe finish the collars of the new chiffon coats and capes. Gray pearls have suddenly become extremely popular and are very much liked with the all-white outfit. Soft fleecy wools in gray, tan and white are very much liked for sport coats.
When everybody says it, nobody knows it for certain.

SANTA ANA IS HOSTESS TO PAST PRESIDENTS OF D. OF V.

From a standpoint of sociability and business transacted the quarterly meeting of the Past Presidents of the Daughters of the Veterans of Southern California was a high success. The picnic luncheon and meeting was held Thursday noon at one of the secluded spots of Birch park, with a large printed sign "Past Presidents, Daughters of Veterans," designating the spot.

There were members present from Santa Barbara, Fullerton, Los Angeles, Lankershim, Orange, Oakland and Santa Ana, and all came with interesting reports of what their camps have been and are doing.

During the serving and eating of the delicious picnic dinner, the conversation ran lightly on the affairs of women of today. Much fun and merriment was derived in counting the women who were termed "the long hairs" and finding that they led for the day by having one more on their side. But upon the arrival of three members, who were detained because of a blow-out on the road from Los Angeles, the "bobbed heads" gained two on their side making the score even.

It is indeed interesting to know that the only Daughters of Veterans' Memorial home in the country has been established by the California organization in Sawtelle. Their home and property, which has at the present time three occupants, is valued at $15,000. The home is beautifully furnished, each camp throughout the state doing their part. Santa Ana camp furnished one room completely.

There was a mortgage on this property and at an impressive meeting some time ago, the mortgage which had been paid was ceremoniously burned. Mrs. Eva Bell, Santa Ana, who is president of the organization which met Thursday, called the meeting to order. Following the general routine of business, Mrs. Martha I. Jones, Los Angeles, who is state president, gave a short report on the work of the new camps had been organized. The new camps are at Upland, Escondido, Covina and Lankershim.

Several members spoke of the state convention of past presidents which was held recently in Sacramento.

A short discussion took place in regard to the national convention of the Grand Army of the Republic, which is to take place August 30th, in Grand Rapids, Michigan. Special rates are being offered by the various railroads for members of the G.A.R. and Sons and Daughters of Veterans.

The new banner, which welcomed the visitors today was donated to the organization by Mrs. Victor Curran of Anaheim.

Those present were: Mrs. Eva M. Bell, Santa Ana; Elizabeth T. Judd, Los Angeles; Ysa Cramora, Whittier; P. Daugherty, Los Angeles; Eva L. Gage, Costa Mesa; Grace S. Archer, Santa Barbara; Beulah L. Curran, Fullerton; Maude Kallis, Los Angeles; Jessie Mason, Los Angeles; Lemma A. Beachy, Los Angeles; Elyot Jones Kahler, Los Angeles; Monte L. Porter, Fullerton; Anna L. Taylor, Lankershim; Agnes David, Fullerton; Leonore Ward, Santa Ana; Della F. Bishop, Orange; Nellie W. Parker, Santa Ana; Elizabeth Adams, Santa Ana; Eva J. Bell, Santa Ana; Martha I. Jones, Los Angeles; Ada Fox, Oakland; Ellen Mae Clous, Oakland, and Anna Taylor, Lankershim.

Many Santa Anans are looking forward with keen delight for the annual exhibit and reception of the Laguna Art association, which is to be held Saturday evening in the Art Gallery at Laguna.

Miss Anna Hills, president of the Art association, has been busy with her numerous committees for some time making arrangements for the exhibit.

Many beautiful pictures will be on display and there also will be an exhibit of sculpture. A cordial invitation is extended to the general public.

It is also expected that many of the artists who have pictures at the exhibit will be present.

nothing out. "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away. Blessed be the name of the Lord."

Reads Twenty-Third Psalm
The Rev. Mr. Sizoo then read the Twenty-Third Psalm, beginning, "The Lord is my Shepherd."

Then was read the prayer of invocation, followed by the Lord's prayer, which was repeated by the congregation in unison.

The scripture reading included the Nineteenth Psalm, beginning "Lord, Thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations," and ending, "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."

Portions of Corinthians XV from verses 50 to 58, and the Gospel of St. John, 14th chapter were also read and then the minister offered the pastoral prayer and sermon.

At the close of the sermon, the minister pronounced benediction, as follows:
"May the God of all peace who brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus Christ, that Great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of His everlasting covenant, keep you perfect in every good work to do His will, working in you that which is well pleasing in His sight, and may the blessing of God Almighty, the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost be amongst you and remain with you always. Amen."

Plans were changed shortly before the service began for the casket to be opened as soon as the service was concluded in order that all in the church might view the body for the last time.

Farewell Shower Is Given to Miss Fath

In compliment to Miss Eva Fath, who is to leave shortly for a visit to her home in Indiana, the members of the Stitch and Chatter club entertained for her at a lovely dinner party at the James cafe last evening.

One long table was arranged centered with a lovely bouquet of summer flowers. Following the delicious dinner, the guests adjourned to the C. E. Decker home, 410 South Broadway, where an evening of dancing, music and games was enjoyed.

The affair at the Decker home was in form of a farewell handkerchief shower for Miss Fath, who received many beautiful and dainty handkerchiefs from her friends.

Much fun and merriment was derived in writing letters to Miss Fath, which are to be opened at various intervals on Miss Fath's journey.

Those who enjoyed the dinner and shower besides the honored guest are as follows: Helen Decker, Oran Decker, Eulah Kaufman, Clara Kellogg, Minnie Koser, Herma Smith, Rita Cook, Myrtle Huff and Hazel Kester.

Santa Anans Vacation at Yosemite Park

Among the many guests happily vacationing at Yosemite Lodge in Yosemite National Park are Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Smart, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Merget, of Santa Ana. They arrived in the Park just yesterday, after an enjoyable trip up the Valley.

All of the Santa Ana guests were delighted with the fresh, green appearance of Yosemite at this time, for it is unusually beautiful and splendid as a result of the frequent showers. While here, the Santa Ana guests plan to spend as much time as possible on the many alluring trails, which are still lined with fern and wild flowers, especially the famous Pohono, one of the favorite July and August hikes in the Valley.

Following the vacation here, the Smarts and the Mergets will return to their home in the South.

Common Household Medicines

Otherwise known as "simples" have for centuries been derived from medicinal roots and herbs. They are still used and recognized by many of our best physicians as unequalled for certain ailments.

In many countries roots and herbs are cultivated purely for commercial purposes. It is said that the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass., is the greatest user of crude herbs in this country. The success of their Vegetable Compound for ailments of women is now world-wide, and it will certainly pay any woman who suffers from any ailment peculiar to her sex to try it.—Adv.

DEALERS TAKE ADVANTAGE OF HONEST PUBLIC

NEW YORK, July 31.—Fuller advantage of the innate honesty and the laziness of the American buying public is being taken now by merchandisers than ever before. Scores of manufacturers are making a practice of sending goods unsolicited or "approval" or what amounts to consignment, to individual retail buyers with no more assurance of getting back their goods or the money than the fact that Americans are instinctively honest and lazy.

One Buffalo neckwear manufacturer, for example, has flooded the metropolitan district with consignments of a wide list, accompanied by a letter asking the consignee, if he likes and wants the ties, to send him a check for $1.50 plus postage. If he does not want to buy the ties, he is requested to send them back. In many instances consignees have sent a check as less trouble than repackaging the merchandise and dispatching it by parcel post. This does not reflect on the quality of the goods. It simply indicates the desire of American buyers to take "the easiest way out."

Buy via Mail Orders. Buyers have discovered that in the present state of street and transportation congestion, it is easier to write or telephone than to shop personally. The mail order houses have made such inroads into the business of retailers in all sections that the latter are adopting the methods of the mail salesmen.

Grocers who formerly laid stress on the cash and carry plan of personal buying, now are urging customers to telephone for their dry goods and groceries. This has necessitated a radical change in methods but the merchants declare they have found it distinctly worth while.

Box manufacturers here, who make a practice of mailing quotations to regular customers, have adopted a system of answering their own letters, thereby lightening the work of the executive to whom they are addressed. They send a telegraph blank attached, addressed and signed by the firm which is to receive it, and so printed as to tell the manufacturer, by striking out one or two lines, when the customer would be in the market, and whether he

TOURNAMENT OF LIGHTS ON NEWPORT BAY WILL PROVE COLORFUL AQUATIC DISPLAY

Amid brilliant lights, fireworks and stirring band music, 100 gaily bedecked boats will parade Newport bay at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the sixth annual Tournament of Lights.

Thousands of spectators are expected to line the bay to witness the spectacle. Plans for the event give promise of making the parade the most pretentious ever held, according to Joe A. Beek, who is in charge of arrangements.

Prizes and trophies, valued at more than $500, will be awarded to the winning entrants. A huge silver loving cup will be given for the best decorated yacht. Other trophies offered include a white gold wrist watch, fishing outfit and numerous cups.

Houses to Be Illuminated. All along the bay front, houses will be lighted with colored lanterns and boats entered will be decorated in unique fashion. Leading the parade, the Magic Isle, with its powerful flashlights, will pass before the Balboa pavilion, travel around the lower bay, circle Bay island and pass in review before the Newport Harbor Yacht club.

The parade will start at the signal of a skyrocket, fired by Mayor George Wilson. During the entire evening, continuous fireworks displays will illuminate the fleet of boats.

Four big cruisers, Arrow, Felicia, Louise and Lady Luck, will be in the line of review.

Even the youngsters of the bay district are equipping their little craft to compete.

Tide Will Fill Bay. High tide at the time of the parade will fill the bay, setting off the illuminated boats to advantage.

City officials, with other prominent citizens, will serve as judges. William Cooper, of Los Angeles, who is chairman of the trophy committee, will act as head of the judging committee.

The Tournament of Lights is being arranged by the Balboa Chamber of Commerce, under supervision of Joe A. Beek, vice commodore of the Newport Harbor Yacht club, who is head of the committee directing the affair. Business men and townspeople are co-operating to make the event outstanding in aquatic celebrations of Southern California.

KERNELS BY THE COLONEL

Two young men were found guilty the other day of stealing five game cocks. There is a law against fighting cocks in this country, and they are good for nothing else. Makes a fellow wonder what they wanted with the five, eh?

One of the best little features for the old-timers in Santa Ana is the "14 years ago" column, gathered from the files of The Register of years ago, but even the more up-to-the-minute residents of the town got a "kick" out of a paragraph which appeared there the other day. It read: "District Deputy Attorney Arthur Koepsel's automobile stalled on the railroad track yesterday, but he managed to push the machine off the tracks before the oncoming train crashed into it."

The writer was not in Santa Ana 14 years ago, but if it is true that Orange county can boast of a train that leaves the tracks in order to "crash" automobiles, it still is not too late to advertise.

Following are two headlines seen in yesterday's paper: "Shoots Himself While in Coffin Room and Dies" and "Man Murdered in Cemetery. Looks as though killing might be brought down to the lowest economical basis. Drayage fee was at least saved in these two cases."

And then there's the vag who told Judge Talbot that he was looking for the coin, and if the judge wanted him to leave the city, as he indicated, it would cost His Honor just exactly 10 bucks. The judge coughed up, too.

Scientific experiment, they say.

Anyway, the bum's rush was done in a modern way, and police have not been able to find the vag since that time. Maybe it was a success.

After reading account after account of new theaters that are to be built "immediately" in Santa Ana, one begins to wonder whether Santa Ana persons have not gone a little dippy over the movies. With all the houses open that have been given publicity, even the Comus club would have to call off its dances in order to put at least 10 persons in each show every night.

Now that the Cookson case has been unofficially closed, that is, as far as news pictures and theories are concerned, Santa Ana must be satisfied for a while with ordinary auto accidents.

Investigate Deaths Of Hindu Autoists

YUBA CITY, Calif., July 31.—Coroner P. W. Rowe, of Sutter county, is continuing an investigation to determine responsibility for the accident north of here, which resulted in the decapitation of Esta Singh and Nika Singh, Hindu farmers, and the serious injury of a third Hindu. The automobile in which they were riding was struck by a car driven by Arvin Pierce, of Hollister, Calif.

considers the quotation of line.

Dealers are still awaiting the opening of the "fancies" which are expected to appeal most strongly to the wearer, and are disposed to disregard the cuts made in the so-called staples, which the public has not rushed to buy. It is notable that raw wool prices were totally unaffected by the prices for cloth announced.

July department store business has been slightly smaller than that of June but for many merchandisers 1925 will be a record year. (Copyright, 1925.)

Judge Praises Single-Handed Driver of Car

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 31.—A youth may drive with his arm around his young woman companion and still not be classed as a reckless driver, Judge C. L. Smith, of the municipal bench, declared in dealing with the case of one of several culprits caught recently by the police in a drive against this particular traffic diversion.

James Vogel pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving. Patrolman L. H. Podd testified that Vogel had one arm around a girl while driving 22 miles an hour.

"I'm not here to condemn or encourage a case of this kind," the judge said. "But I have seen men drive with one arm around a girl's waist and drive carefully, too. However, as you have pleaded guilty, I will fine you $3."

PRUNES AT $20 TON
SACRAMENTO, July 31.—Twenty dollars a ton green is being offered for prunes in the Visalia district, as compared with $30 last year. First crop figs in Fresno county have been sold recently as high as $4 a crate.

CORONA DEL MAR

Balboa Palisades

Newport Beach, California

Announcing the Last Opportunity to Secure Beautiful CORONA DEL MAR
Property of the Original Subdividers at Remarkably Low Original Prices and on Original Liberal Terms of Payment

CORONA DEL MAR (BALBOA PALISADES) IS IDEALLY SITUATED ON NEWPORT BAY AND THE OCEAN, AND IS TRAVERSED THROUGH ITS CENTER BY THE NEWLY CONSTRUCTED STATE COAST HIGHWAY.

This Property is Just Beginning a Period of Intensive Growth and Development

The opportunity of securing at astonishingly low prices, a summer home site, a permanent home site or a business property in a rapidly developing community located on a paved State Coast Highway, adjacent to both Orange County Harbor and the Ocean, is actually unique even in wonderful Orange County. Business lots on the State Coast Highway and in the center of more than 1500 sold residential lots are available as low as $450.

Every development on the south coast from Long Beach to San Diego benefits this property. Every development of Newport Harbor brings great benefit to this property. The pavement of the State Coast Highway, now already graded, and for which paving bids are received by the California Highway Commission August 3rd, and which paving is scheduled for completion this Fall, will bring enormous benefit to this property.

The new water works system, unexcelled in California, has just been completed, is now being tested and will be ready to serve in September. This availability of water will start a building campaign by a fair proportion of approximately seven hundred owners of approximately nine hundred and fifty lots which have been purchased and paid for and deeded by us to the owners.

Our original CORONA DEL MAR subdivisions contained a total of sixteen hundred and three lots, of which fourteen hundred and seventy-one have been sold, thus leaving available for purchase at original and subdividers prices (not resale prices) only one hundred and thirty-two lots.

Residential Lots, $275.00 (some lower, some higher)

Business Lots, $18.00 to $25.00 per front foot

Cheap Restaurant Deal Proves Fake

PORTLAND, Ore., July 31.—Emil Madsen has learned a lot about the restaurant business. A stranger encountered him in the North End and informed him he was looking for a partner to run a restaurant. He needed just $125, he said, to complete the purchase of an eating house which he showed to Madsen.

For the $125, the stranger said, Madsen could have a half interest in the place and be its manager, as well. Madsen produced the money, and went around to the establishment the next day to inspect the property and to meet his friendly partner. The "partner" was not there, and the proprietor of the cafe told Madsen that no deal for the sale of the place had gone through or was pending. Police trailed Madsen's bilker, and found he had paid his board bill with part of the $125, and then skipped out.

COUNTY WILL MAKE PAYMENT ON LAND TRACT

Acquisition of what may be a county fair ground, aviation field, race track or future county park will be expected tomorrow, when the county makes the initial payment on an 160-acre tract of land lying one mile southeast of the intersection of Main street and Newport boulevard.

The tract, on which the county took an option several months ago, was obtained from James Irvine Jr., at $350 an acre, and will be paid for in four annual installments, without interest. The deed to the first 40 acres will be in the hands of the county tomorrow. The total consideration is $56,000. In commenting today on the newly-acquired land, S. H. Finley, county supervisor, declared that Irvine had given the land to the county for half its actual value. The property is located within three miles of the actual geographical center of Orange county, he said. This fact, coupled with the level surface of the ground, will make it an ideal location for a county park or future fair ground. No immediate improvements are to be made, but Finley predicted that trees and shrubbery later would be planted on the tract.

The first probable use of the land will be as an aviation field, Finley believes. He said that the tract lies directly on the Los Angeles-San Diego air route, which fact undoubtedly will be an important consideration in a few years. The board of supervisors is purchasing the tract with the future in mind, and feels fortunate to have obtained such a liberal offer as was granted by Irvine.

NEW U. S. ENVOY REACHES RUMANIA

BUCHAREST, July 31.—William Smith Culbertson, minister designate to Rumania, arrived here Sunday, increasing America's record of invisible diplomats in this Balkan capital.

Since both the king and queen are absent, Mr. Culbertson cannot present his credentials. Therefore, while here physically, he isn't here officially.

Peter Augustus Jay, the previous American ambassador to Rumania, now in Argentina, presented the most amusing demonstration of official incognito. Mr. Jay, who with his wife, was extremely popular here, left after making official adieux. A few days later, he returned and, though seen accompanying the queen driving almost every day, and frequently occupying the royal box at the theater, insisted upon his incognito for a month. He was extremely annoyed when friends persisted on recognizing him.

The United States has further diplomatic complications at Bucharest with two commercial attaches on the scene. Sproul Gotche already is here to relieve Louis Norman, two months hence. As a result officialdom doesn't know whom to recognize.

Germans Join French Forces In Riff Battle

BERLIN, July 31.—Half of the foreign legionnaires fighting on the side of France against Abd-el-Krim in Morocco are Germans, in the opinion of Berlin military experts. Not only is it untrue that Germans have come to the aid of the Moroccan chieftain, they say, but on the contrary France is being supported by about 12,000 to 15,000 German subjects enrolled in the French legion.

This rather startling fact is explained in the following manner. In article 179 of the Treaty of Versailles, Germany undertakes not to permit any of its subjects to enter the services of another power, except that it is specifically provided that this article shall not be applicable to the French Foreign legion.

During 1922 and 1923 many German young men found themselves out of jobs. Others found the daily grist of Germany's reconstruction task too dull and unadventurous. They readily listened, it is said, to the arguments of French recruiting officers.

Whiten Skin with Lemon

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard-White, which any druggists will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms, and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach.

You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

Girl, 11, Giggles As She Is Freed From Husband

CHICAGO, July 31.—School girl giggles punctuated the testimony of Petro Noreiga, 11 years old, as she told the story of her elopement with Jesus Amallo, 21 years old, and her subsequent marriage. Judge John R. Caverly granted the girl a decree of annulment. The youngest complainant ever to appear in a Cook county divorce court considered the court proceedings a huge joke. But in speaking of her husband, her face lost its smile and her black eyes flashed with anger. Petro was 11 years old last June 20. Amallo, who lived in the neighborhood and who had taken her to movies once or twice, proposed that they celebrate her birthday by getting married. Pe-

New Building Is Firemen's School

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—A specially designed seven-story brick structure has been erected in San Francisco for training firemen. It contains a room where the operation of sprinkler systems is demonstrated. Another room is, in effect, a chamber where the men brave smoke and try out various kinds of protective devices. The fire alarm system is studied in another room. The basement is used for instructing recruits how to enter burning cellars. Even the exterior walls are used for training in wall-scaling and in fire-escape work. tra thought it was a good idea and they were wed in Crown Point. Parents later found the couple and later Amallo disappeared.

Application Made For Right-of-Way

YREKA, Calif., July 31.—Superior of Siskiyou county will hear August 3 an application for a railroad right-of-way through the county which is expected to play an important part in opening mining and timber resources in northern California. The application is for a line to run between Hornbrook and Happy Camp, 75 miles. Behind it is J. E. Sexton, former president and general manager of the Eureka Nevada railroad. Sexton said the road would be narrow gauge, costing about $1,500,000. It is wanted primarily, he said, to take out 1,250,000 tons of gold and copper ore under a contract which Sexton holds with the Grey Eagle Mining company. China has the shortest mile in the world—609 yards.

FEW VETERANS NOW APPLYING FOR POSITIONS

Ex-soldiers, sailors and marines of the World war are better equipped to fight life's battles today than at any time since the armistice, in the opinion of Charles Swanner, Legion official, of Santa Ana, and chairman of the Legion's local welfare committee.

Swanner bases his opinion on the fact that fewer men are applying for jobs at this time than ever before.

"I have had a job ready for an ex-service man for the last week, but none has come for it," Swanner said today.

Immediately after the war, there were so many ex-service men who did not have positions that Legion posts throughout the country organized welfare committees, whose duty it was to place veterans in jobs.

The committees have performed a wonderful work, according to Wilbur Getty, Santa Ana post commander. In Santa Ana, the committee has found work for scores of men.

But today, because the ex-service man has adjusted himself again, the committee is not so hard pressed as heretofore, he said.

Swanner declared that there would be no attempt to eliminate the welfare committee of the legion here as elsewhere, for the committee has found other fields of endeavor. Although job seeking will be eliminated from the duties, aiding the ex-service man in various other ways will be attempted.

Newsboys Cause Gold Excitement

VICTORIA, B. C., July 31.—A newsboys' excursion into northern British Columbia and Alaska, conducted by George F. Buchanan, millionaire coal man and philanthropist, of Detroit, may be the basis of a new gold stampede into the Atlin district of British Columbia. When the boys returned here they exhibited a number of nuggets they had picked up in the Atlin district, which was a rich field 25 years ago.

Warship to Carry Envoy's Body

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The body of Edgar A. Bancroft, American ambassador, who died in Japan, will be transported to San Francisco by a Japanese battleship, according to present plans of the Tokyo government, it has been learned in diplomatic circles here.

The precedent was set by Japan in giving similar honorable transport to the remains of Ambassador Gunter in 1912.

Official notification of the Japanese government's intention has not yet been given the state department here, although it is known that such an offer from one government to another always is accepted.

Sees Thugs Kill Husband After Making Mistake

NEW YORK, July 31.—Two shadowy outlines appeared in the window of the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Louise Leonard. Mrs. Leonard was terrified.

A moment later strong arms held her powerless while in the dim light she saw her husband beaten to death with a hammer.

Then suddenly, she told police, one of the men exclaimed: "My God, Jim, we've made a mistake. We're on the wrong floor."

SPORT SPEEDS.

LONDON—A cricket ball "hit for a six" travels from the bat at a speed of about 90 miles an hour, while it has been established that a golf ball hit by a first-class driver travels at about 250 feet per second. A tennis ball served by a good hitter leaves the racket at about 125 feet per second.

5 Indian Girls Are Fugitives From Arlington

Five Indian girls made good their escape from the Sherman institute, of Arlington, yesterday, according to a report made to the sheriff's office last night.

Information that the girls started in the direction of Corona and that they probably would take the Santa Ana canyon road toward Los Angeles last night, sent deputy sheriffs to that location, but no trace of the fugitives was found.

Descriptions of the Indians, all of them bobbed-haired and wearing tennis shoes, were filed with officers here.

WEEK'S EVENTS ON PLAYGROUND ARE ANNOUNCED

Including a swimming party at Newport Beach for boys who have been regular attendants, the program for the ensuing week's playground and recreation work was announced today by L. W. Archer, city playground superintendent.

With the exception of the swimming party, the events will take place on the North Main street playgrounds, and are open to all Santa Ana children.

The program of events follows: Saturday, August 1—Track meet for ninth grade boys.

Monday, August 3—Swimming party at Newport Beach for boys who have been regular attendants.

Transportation will be furnished by the Chandler Furniture company.

Tuesday, August 4—Costume day. All attending are to dress to represent some nation, class or group of people.

Wednesday, August 5—Kite flying tournament. One prize to be given each day for the best kite flown. The tournament will be held during the remainder of the week.

Indoor baseball tournament, instead of a basketball tournament, as previously announced, will be held next week by the teams entered by various Sunday schools in the city.

School Funds Will Total $14,909,890

SACRAMENTO, July 31.—The semi-annual appointment of school funds will total $14,909,890, it was revealed here in a requisition filed with State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson by William C. Wood, superintendent of public instruction.

The amount payable September 1 is based on an average of $30 for each pupil attending the public schools daily. It will be apportioned as follows: Elementary schools, $13,728,400; high schools, $1,004,990; junior colleges, $176,500; total, $14,909,890.

LUTHERANS GET COLLEGE OPTION

FORT WAYNE, Ind., July 31.—A 30-day option on the property of Valparaiso university at Valparaiso, Ind., was signed by the Lutheran University association.

Dr. H. A. Duemling, president of the association, a branch of the National Education association of the Lutheran denomination, announced the closing of the final deal will involve $175,500.

Dr. Duemling declared the present university faculty will be maintained and the university will continue present courses. No student will be required to take courses in religion or attend chapel exercises.

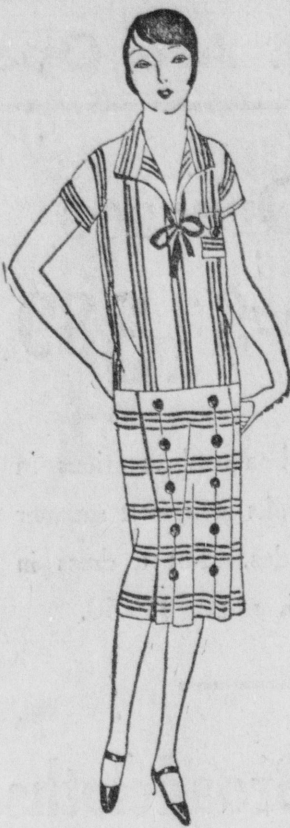

An extensive building program is planned. The association holds options for several tracts near the school site, the largest including thirty acres. As new buildings are erected the center of the campus will be moved from the business end of the city. Dr. H. M. Evans, president, will be retained as chancellor and a new head named.

BIT OF LIFE'S DRAMA UNFOLDS BEFORE EYES OF REPORTER

Scene: County Clerk's Office, Where Characters Unwind Marriage Plot

TEARS BROUGHT BY ANGLE OF TRAGEDY

'Girl Who Wouldn't Be Married' Comes to Abrupt End As Principal Flees

By E. MERLE HUSSONG

Sometimes a story can best be told with the use of the personal pronoun. Of course, ordinarily, a reporter has to be impersonal, he must cast a cold and calculating eye upon the business of the world and record impartially what he sees.

But there are times when he must cast off the mask of anonymity and record his personal opinions, views that he can secure from someone else.

This is one of that kind of story. There isn't anyone it can be fastened on because it is just what I saw.

Not a word passed between the writer and the persons concerned. Yet I knew, and the person who reads this would have known that a bit of touching, intimate drama was unfolding itself before him upon the great stage of life.

The story is laid in the office of the county clerk, where marriage licenses are granted, and sometimes refused.

Mother With Her Son
 At the counter, hanging over one license application blank, were three persons, a young man with sleek black hair, high forehead. He was filling out the blank with enthusiasm. At his right shoulder was an elderly woman. From the information she gave the boy, it was easy to guess she was his mother.

At the other shoulder was a girl. Her face showed she was the sister.

A few feet away, apart from the group, her head on her hand, her eyes cast down, was another girl. Dressed in pure white, her cheeks had a genuine glow of health. She paid no attention to

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE DRIVER?

What happened to the driver—who was he, and from where? Answer to the question is a secret of the white sands of Death valley, in Nevada, where this skeleton of a horse and remains of the phaeton have lain for an indefinite time. J. S. Clark, Virginia City, Nev., came upon the derelict on the very edge of the valley.

OFFICERS GET STILL, MASH IN RAID AT DELHI

Members of the sheriff's department battled 500 yesterday afternoon when they went "a hunting." It was still hunting, this hunt, and the officers bagged one new 20-gallon still and a barrel of mash, together with all the necessary equipment that it takes to make a still go.

At another place, even digging around in the back yard failed to find a drop of the illicit stuff that officers seem to be always looking for.

Both raids were made in the Delhi district, and both at homes of Mexicans. No arrests were made.

The still and equipment were brought to the sheriff's office, and Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy, left word at the house for the owner to call at the sheriff's office, if he wanted to obtain his still.

Then another officer spoke up: "And tell him to try and get it." This came from Louie Heffner, state officer.

Officers on the raid, besides McClellan and Heffner, were Walter Meyer and Jesse Elliott.

SEE-SAWING UP AND DOWN FOURTH STREET

BY EDDIE WEST

There may be nothing in names or signs but—Wandering about town one notices that Messrs. Baker, Miller and Cook are in the bakery business in Santa Ana; that Messrs. Barr and Wood are lumber dealers here; that Monsieur Hatch is in the poultry business; that Monsieur Fuller operates a fountain lunch and that Monsieur House is a contractor.

If, any Sunday, you stroll past the Fourth Street market, at Fourth street and Broadway, a gray cat most likely will peer out at you from behind the store's windows. For more than a year this feline has made the market his residence, yet Arnold Peek, the proprietor, knows not from whence he came or where he goes in the daytime. The cat does police duty every night, but flees the establishment when employees open the market in the morning. He never has been named, being known just as "that cat."

See-sawing up and down Fourth street, the writer saw a brazen youth clad in a sweater that would have been the object of hen fruit and over-ripe tomatoes if worn by any dude 10 years ago. And, indeed, it was of a color scheme that could have been created in such a process for volk-yellow and bright red predominated in it, although it also was flecked with mauve, heliotrope, cerise, maroon, green, blue and violet. Lace now is about the only thing the men-dear things—haven't usurped from the ladies for their own wear—and that will come ere long.

Throughs choke Main street and traffic is snarled late Sunday afternoons while thousands of motorists snail-pace back toward the cities from when they came to gasp the seaside air. Yet last Sunday everything came to a standstill as a motorcycle cop streaked through with his hideous siren going full blast. My blase companion ironically suggested that the officer was scurrying home to a chicken dinner.

In a cigar store here the other day a bobbed-haired girl walked in and said, "Let me have a package of cigarettes and write it on the ice. Ain't got any change now."

See-sawing up and down Fourth street, I saw Bob Collins, clerk at the Peterson shoe store, and it doth seem that Robert is permitting his hair to grow out whereas he used to have it cut so short that each strand resembled a young spike.

Saw Joe Irvine, deputy county jailer, who in bulk and brawn appears like a wrestler. Saw Leo Scharf, Philatelist, who has several trunks filled with foreign postage stamps that he has collected over a span of some 25 years. He receives mail almost daily from virtually every port of call in the world. Saw Joe Scharf, golf professional at the Orange County Public Golf Club, who wears golf togs most neatly and whose tan is proof evident that he honestly has won the right to wear said togs on our public streets.

Saw Sam Jernigan, an expert machinist at the Brook Glass company, whose curly black hair and burly shoulder and sinewy arms makes him resemble greatly Jack Dempsey before the heavy-weight champion began to fiddle-faddle in the cinemas. Saw Sam Jernigan, sheriff of "this here county," and Samuel doth possess a most attractive smile and he also appreciates and understands the trials and tribulations of newspapermen. Saw Mayor John W. Tubbs and "Hizzoner" did seem greatly excited about two things—his golf game and the arrival here Saturday of the new Buick automobile models.

CONTEST FOR FAIR SLOGANS IS EXTENDED

Time Will Be Given Till August 10, Says Stanley; Judges Appointed

The contest for slogans for the Orange County fair, to be held here September 22 to 26, has been extended to August 10, it was announced today by A. M. Stanley, manager. The judges, appointed yesterday, will be A. L. Olinger, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce; George A. Raymer, secretary of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce, and Tom Talbert, member of the county board of supervisors. Prizes for the best slogans will be family tickets to the fair. The suggestions should be sent to the farm bureau office, care of Stanley.

H. A. Lake, Garden Grove, president of the fair board, said today that the widespread interest which has been manifested in the fair indicates a desire on the part of Orange county people to make this year's exhibition the best ever held.

After communicating with concerns all over the country, a firm finally has been located that makes plaques, desired for prizes. Stanley asserted.

"All appeals to stores, jobbers and factories, first in Orange county and then in other sections of the state, came to naught," said the fair manager. "Bronze, brass and iron foundries here said that they couldn't handle the order. 'Never heard of 'em,' said a local blacksmith, as he beat a horse-shoe into a grace for a fillyer. A plumber offered to make some of lead, but the weight was against this material. A jeweler thought that he could prepare some of gold."

"Finally came a belated reply from a firm in the east. This concern has agreed to furnish us with a fine collection of silver plaques, mounted on wooded bases."

COUNTY DRUGGISTS FORM ASSOCIATION

Arthur Bowman and E. T. Ma-teer, Santa Ana druggists, were elected president and secretary, respectively, when the Orange County Druggists association was formed at a meeting held yesterday in Kettner's cafe.

Other officers are: First vice president, Jesse Hardy, Fullerton; second vice president, J. H. Harms, Orange; third vice president, J. O. Hardage, Anaheim.

Seventeen Orange county druggists were present at the initial gathering. The association was organized by officers of the Los Angeles Retail Druggists association and the Southern California Retail Druggists association. J. E. Naragan and E. C. Smith, president and secretary, respectively, of the latter organization, and W. F. Goetz, sales manager for the Specialists Supply company, were present.

OLD BELL FROM S. A. SCHOOL TO BE SENT EAST

A bell, which for years rang out from the belfry of the Roosevelt school, was taken down this week by O. V. Dart, 2822 North Main street, and sent to Dart's old home in the east.

The bell, which was remembered today by some who attended the school as early as 1904, is one of the oldest in the community.

The school to which Mr. Dart is sending the bell is in a rural community, which has been trying for years to raise enough money by basket suppers and other social functions to purchase a bell for the little schoolhouse. Money sufficient to purchase the bell finally was collected, only to be spent for another purpose—that of procuring a library to meet the increased needs of the pupils the last few years.

Dart endeavored to gather early history concerning the bell from Santa Ana people, but so far has been unsuccessful. If anyone should know the date when the bell was first installed, he says he would appreciate being informed of it. The recipients of the bell in the eastern school district also will be interested in knowing the age of the old bell, he said.

Construction to Cost Company 40 Million Dollars

LOS ANGELES, July 31.—Forty million dollars will be spent by the Southern California Edison company in construction work in enlarging its Big Creek-San Joaquin river project, according to an announcement by the management of the company.

The Shaver Lake tunnel, which will be five and a third miles long and 14 feet in diameter, will be started this fall. The tunnel, combined with the Shaver Lake dam, which will be built to impound 139,000 acres feet of water, will add a generating capacity of 180,000 horsepower.

The entire project, including the Huntington Lake tunnel, completed early this year, is being constructed to care for the needs of 4,500,000 persons in ten counties of central and southern California. The present population of the area is approximately 2,500,000.

FIND CRYSTAL CAVERN.
 LINDIN—A beautiful cavern system has been discovered near Ington, in the Yorkshire hills. Two travelers spending a day in the hills happened upon a narrow slit in the rock. Tearing away the limestone they came upon a roaring river passing through crystal caves. In lofty chambers, curtained with stalactites of orange and white crystal, are cascades of clear water. It has been named White Scar cavern.

Insurance Man Tells of Friend's Recovery

"He suffered considerably from gas in stomach and colic attacks, and at times was very yellow. His doctors diagnosed his ailment as gall bladder trouble and that an operation was necessary. Some one persuaded him to try May's Wonderful Remedy. Since taking it one year ago he tells me he has been able to eat anything." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. ## Exhibits Number of Toys Cut with Knife from Solid Blocks

Everybody has a hobby—just some one thing that they really like to do whenever they have a little time and want to rest. J. L. Rees, of Tustin, has a hobby for carving wood.

Ever since he was a small boy, Rees has carved things out of wood. Frogs, Indian heads, grasshoppers, bugs, animals, pigeons, chickens and other birds are included on the list of carved figures which were dug up from among a pile of children's playthings. Figures of comic paper characters also have been whittled out by Rees in his spare time.

Now Rees is grown. He is a plasterer by trade, but he still carves wooden toys for his children. He is a carpenter, too.

"I'm not much on publicity, but I guess you fellows have to write about something," he said, as he dropped his saw to talk to the reporter.

"I always did like to carve things," Rees explained, exhibiting a collection of about two dozen articles which he had whittled from blocks of wood. Many of the articles were broken from rough usage by the children.

"It takes a good deal of patience," he explained, and added that about a half day was consumed in cutting out some of the small figures. "Some of the simpler ones can be made in a couple of hours, though."

Almost any kind of wood will do for carving the figures, but soft wood is easier to work with, according to Rees. Hard wood lasts longer, but is much harder to carve, he explained.

JULIAN OIL ENTERS COSTA MESA FIELD

Oil property of the Rosenberg company at Costa Mesa has been taken over by the Julian Petroleum corporation, it was disclosed today. The entire 400 acres of the Rosenberg leases were involved in the deal by which the new company takes over operations.

The transaction did not involve an outright purchase of the Rosenberg holdings, it was said. Leases were taken over on a royalty basis. Two wells already are down on the property. Costa Mesa No. 1 well is pumping from 40 to 60 barrels daily, at a 630-foot depth. Fairview Farms No. 1 is down to a depth of 2700 feet. It was expected today that preparation would be made to fill this well with concrete to the 630-foot level and test the oil strata at that depth.

Immediate drilling is to be undertaken on two new wells, according to plans of the Julian corporation. One of the new holes is to be drilled on the reservoir site and the other will be drilled near Costa Mesa No. 1.

The move of the Julian company in entering the Costa Mesa field is declared to be indicative of great possibilities for the district. The leasing gives support to reports of renewed activities in that section.

State Gas Revenue Nets Four Million

SACRAMENTO, July 31.—The two-cent gasoline tax netted the state of California $4,065,589.91 during the quarterly period ended July 1. It has been announced here by the state board of equalization. This figure shows a 13 per cent gain over the total for the corresponding period of 1924 and represents the tax collected on approximately 203,207,000 gallons of gasoline.

GAMBLING AND GIRLIE SHOWS ARE BANNED BY COUNTY FAIR

Management to Be Strict In Nature of Entertainment Here in September

FORTUNE TELLERS WON'T BE ALLOWED

Wheels and Cane Games to Be O. K. If Player Wins Something Each Time

Gambling concessions will not be tolerated at the Orange County fair, to be held in Santa Ana, September 22 to 26, A. M. Stanley, manager of the fair, declared today. Neither will girl shows, fortune tellers or other objectionable features be permitted, he stated.

The fair manager asserted that the fair board has appointed George McPhee, city trustee and police commissioner, to supervise the concessions, and see that gambling games are not operated. "Horizontal wheels, ring and cane games and other games of a similar nature, where something of value is won by each person every time he plays, will be permitted," Stanley said. "We do not consider that these concessions come under the heading of gambling, and have decided to permit them to operate at the fair." The fair will not be open on Sunday.

At fairs in former years, the district attorney has stopped operation of concessions which were considered in violation of the state lottery law.

District Attorney Nelson defines a gambling device as anything by which a person wins a prize through chance.

Here is what the California law says regarding a lottery: "A lottery is any scheme for the disposal or distribution of property by chance among persons who have paid or promised to pay any money, or consideration for the chance of obtaining such property or a portion of it, or for any share or any interest in such property, upon any agreement, understanding, or expectation that it is to be distributed or disposed of by lottery or chance, whether called a lottery, raffle or gift enterprise, or by whatever name the same may be known."

Stage and Screen

YOST THEATER

The producer of "The Covered Wagon" has brought another humdinger to the screen in "Welcome Home," now showing at the Yost theater. Lois Wilson, Warner Baxter and Luke Cosgrave are featured in the leading roles of this new Cruze production, which is a picture version of a stage play by Edna Ferber and George S. Kaufman.

Most of the action of "Welcome Home" takes place in the Prouty home, where old man Prouty arrives to live with his married children. From the moment he steps over the threshold until he packs up and leaves for an Old Men's Home, the laughs are long and hearty.

The fun starts when the Prouty maid of all work walks out in a huff when she is asked to give up her room to the old man. What harm, but the old fellow puts in an appearance just as Fred and Nettie are going out to a party. His premature arrival sort of puts a kink in their plans, but his "welcome home" is from the heart. They are glad to see him and forget about themselves for a while.

After ordering a "light" supper, the old man discovers that a lamp is not working just right and starts operating on it with a hammer and screw driver, upsets a card index file, bursts some of a women's meeting and makes a nuisance of himself in general.

WALKER THEATER

"The White Desert," which Reginald Barker directed, opened at Walker's theater last night; a romance of the snow-bound barren peaks of the Continental Divide in Colorado.

Fast moving drama lightened here and there by a true comedy touch makes it the finest of Barker's recent work. The great outdoors. Beautiful photography, realism, and a smooth story combined with finished acting calls forth the highest praise.

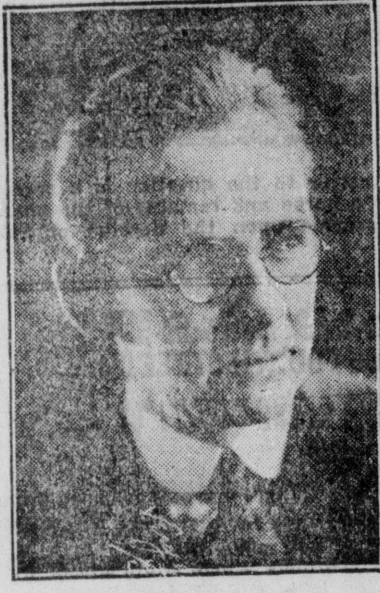

Claire Windsor and Pat O'Malley head the cast and their portrayals represent some of the finest screen acting of any current production. Robert Frazer, Frank Currier, and Mathew Betz have some fine moments also. Trilix Friganza and Snitz Edwards supply the comedy relief for the production and do it with great success.

The action of the story is built on the undertaking of a railroad to bore a tunnel through the Rocky Mountains. Heavy blasting in the tunnel causes an avalanche which sweeps down the mountain carrying away buildings and men in its path of destruction.

The survivors are faced with starvation. The telegraph wires are down and the camp is gripped by a blizzard that threatens complete isolation. Around this is built one of the best screen stories of the year.

WEST END THEATER

Dorothy Devore plays the lead with William Haines in "Fighting the Flames," current attraction at the West End theater. Miss Devore's rise to stardom is the result of a number of years of conscientious effort, progressing from part to part as the opportunity arose. She was born in Fort Worth, Tex. She was educated in that city and in Los Angeles. She had an early career in vaudeville and on the legitimate stage, going from the experience thusly gained directly to the movie lot.

She appeared in a wide variety of productions for a number of companies. Among those pictures are "Saving Sister Susie," "One Stormy Night," "Hazel From Hollywood," and "Winter Has Come." She was recently starred in "The Narrow Street." Her latest picture before this present one was with William Haines in the film version of Cosmo Hamilton's "Who Cares."

SUBURBAN THEATER

For the sixth week's play the Griffie Barnette Players will offer "The Open Window," a comedy drama, at the Suburban theater, at Orana.

Is a woman entitled to a second chance? Does a girl's mistake bar her from another chance? What should become of the man responsible for the girl's trouble? Can hate be turned to love? Should vanity be encouraged? Does ignorance excuse a thief?

All these vital questions are answered in a most interesting way by the Barnette Players in "The Open Window" which begins its week's engagement Sunday night.

The characters of Unbelief, Hope, Vanity, Hate, Selfishness, Love, and Charity, tell a wonderful true to life story in this play with an abundance of the kind of comedy that people will be repeating long after they see the play.

Barnette says business is increasing. This week's attraction, "Why Wives Go Wrong," drew beyond expectations, and he is making special arrangements to play several other late releases in the near future. "Why Wives Go Wrong" plays tonight and Saturday night.

The "HIGH SCORE" butter

What it is and what it means to you

When the expert buys butter, he buys it by "score."

Flavor, "body," color, salt-content, package—each is considered and a value given to it. These values, totaled, represent the score—89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94—or whatever the figure may be.

As the score is high or low, so is the value of the butter determined.

As the score of a brand is uniform or not—one day with the next, one season with another—to just that extent is the brand in question dependable. To just that extent is it a brand worthy of preference, by you.

Its every-day importance

At every meal—365 days in the year—you serve butter on your table. Even the sandwich and between-meal luncheon must have butter.

Surely, then, such an important food as butter deserves the most expert care in its selection. And can you afford anything but the best, even if you do have to pay a few cents a week more?

Be Butter-wise!

Of course, you want the butter that you serve to be "high score."

How, then, are you going to be sure of it?

You could hardly be expected to score every pound of butter that you buy. And fortunately you don't have to. You can make sure of high-quality butter in just the same way that you make sure of the quality of other foods: by choosing the dependable "high score" brand—and insisting upon it.

Well, Then, What Brand?

For 21 years we have been trying to make GOLDEN STATE the kind of butter that the most discriminating housewife might be proud to serve.

We have selected the choicest cream from California's finest dairying districts; we have churned and packed it in our own model creameries—and every step in the butter-making process has been supervised by experts who believe that the women of California should have the best.

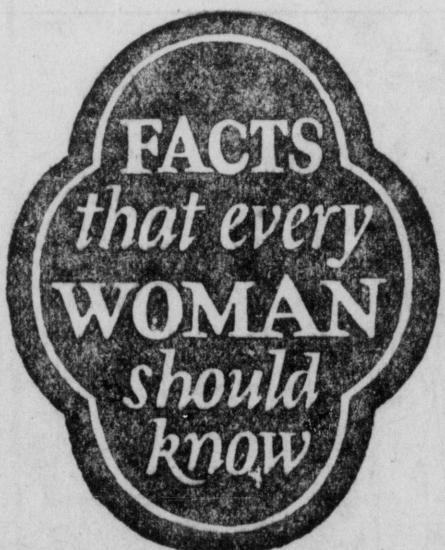

Naturally, then, it is more dependable than other brands that are made without this regard for the "little things that make for quality."

Naturally it is a mighty dependable brand for you.

That's why you can buy butter the way the experts do, by the "score"—simply by insisting on GOLDEN STATE, the "high score" butter!

Then you'll always be quality-sure!

Your grocer has it.

Golden State BUTTER

THE HIGH SCORE*

Ends the QUEST for the BEST

*"High score" butter is high quality butter—butter that is superior in flavor, "body," color, salt-content and package.

Did you know that Golden State averages from 1 to 5 points higher in score than other brands?

BRYAN CALLED GREATER MAN THAN HE KNEW

NOTE: Robert T. Small draws on an acquaintance with the Great Commoner dating back 25 years to the campaign of 1900 in the following appraisal of William Jennings Bryan, the fallen leader of the fundamentalists. Bryan, says Small, was even greater than he knew.

By ROBERT T. SMALL
(Special Correspondent)
(Copyright, 1925)

William Jennings Bryan has attained in death the honors which were denied him in life. No president in death has received greater public attention and consideration. The news of Mr. Bryan's death has resounded around the world and has called out the comment of every civilized nation. The Commoner was in truth greater than he knew.

Mr. Bryan died with the white spotlight full upon him. Those of us who were with him at Dayton during those most eventful weeks of his later life realized to the full all that that spotlight meant. Mr. Bryan drank in the applause and cheers of the Tennessee country-side as a thirsty traveler in the desert would quaff cold water.

Lingers in Tennessee
Tennessee's tribute was such that he lingered far longer in the state than he ever had intended and therefore met his fate in the little town where he had dedicated himself publicly to the defense of the Bible against all its critics against the agnostics and the atheists.

It is one of the strange revelations of the inner self of Mr. Bryan that he should desire to be buried in Arlington National cemetery not among the soldiers of the cross, but among the soldiers of the flag—the men who had dedicated themselves to their country.

To have known Mr. Bryan these last few years naturally would have led to the belief that he would have preferred his last resting place to be in some ecclesiastical or cathedral close. But in his thoughts of death, Mr. Bryan's mind reverted to the days of the Spanish-American war when he was a colonel of volunteers. William Jennings Bryan, the soldier, had been all but forgotten by the present generation. Many persons wondered why he was so often addressed as "Colonel." They thought perhaps it was an honorary title, such as the court at Dayton conferred upon "Colonel" Clarence Darrow, of Chicago.

Proud of War Service
But Mr. Bryan, even in his later religious years, always was proud to think he had taken the field for his country in war, just as he had fought, later, for universal peace. Mr. Bryan was a good enough soldier, furthermore, to send his only son to a military school. William Jennings Bryan Jr., who flashed across the screen at Dayton for a few fleeting days, is a graduate of Culver, in Indiana.

To the newspaper correspondents at Dayton, the hold of Mr. Bryan on the people of the United States was most effectively demonstrated. Every correspondent, whose dispatches had nationwide circulation, was bombarded with letters throughout the trial. They came from the cities and the remote hamlets. Some were from persons of intelligence; others were most apparently from what the world calls "cranks."

For Bryan or Against
But the letters were just one thing or the other—they either were for Bryan or against him. Some correspondents were harassed for giving Mr. Bryan "the worst of it," other were verbally chastised for being entirely too much in Mr. Bryan's favor.

Great as was the fame of Clarence Darrow and Dudley Field Malone, of the Scopes counsel, the public appeared to center its final and complete interest in one man—the Commoner. It was Bryan who made the "monkey trial" of Tennessee an international incident, and it was strange indeed that the Commoner should have died in the reflected glow of that strangest of American episodes.

This evidence of the public sentiment toward Mr. Bryan was but a confirmation of what most of those who knew him had come to believe. There were no half-way believers in the Commoner. People either believed in him blindly, as he believed in the Bible, or else they did not believe in him at all. It was the latter class which rose up on every occasion to cast doubt upon Mr. Bryan's motives. They saw in his every move another effort for the presidency and they will always believe Mr. Bryan died a disappointed man because he never had received a majority of the electoral votes.

Question Baltimore Motives
These "haters" of Mr. Bryan always insisted that his moves in Baltimore, in 1912, when he accomplished the nomination of Woodrow Wilson, were made in his own behalf. They insisted he stopped the drift to Champ Clark in the hope that the votes eventuthe other three. Her thoughts were far away. She must have been making up her mind, a decision which would turn her life into one channel or another.

Silently she moved from the license bureau. The edge of her coal black hair under her white hat could just be seen as she disappeared through the door. The three raised their heads. They cast questioning looks upon each other. The elderly woman said: "Huh?"

Then the business of making out the license application was resumed, but not so enthusiastically as before.

In just a moment or two the job was complete. The vision in white reappeared. Her eyes showed she had been crying. She still was dabbing at her eyes with her handkerchief.

She appeared to regain her nerve. She moved forward, took the pen ally would go to him rather than Wilson, for that was one Democratic occasion when everyone knew that whomever the Democrats nominated, was certain of election the following November.

The haters said it was only in 1916 that Mr. Bryan failed to have hope of another Democratic nomination. At the time, Mr. Wilson was certain of renomination. Mr. Bryan had been secretary of state and retired, and for once in 30 years he was not an important figure in a national convention.

But now Mr. Bryan is going to rest in Arlington, where he will look out over the Washington he loved and where the dim outlines of the stately White House may be observed through the green trees which line the hills of the Potomac, where all is quiet, placid and serene. Mr. Bryan's beautiful home in Florida was known as the "Serene Villa."

in her hand and signed her name at the bottom of the license application.

The three followed closely as the clerk made out the marriage license application. The girl again sought the corridor.

The three were not so perturbed this time. Everything must be all right or she would not have signed the document.

I went down the hall to see the county auditor on a story I was told to get.

On the steps of the courthouse, so situated that the sun made her white dress gleam as if in benediction, was the girl.

Girl Alone and Weeping
She was sobbing openly. Her cheeks had more than a natural flush. No one was near her.

Near the telephone booth two men caught sight of her.

"My, she is taking it hard, ain't she?" one of the citizens asked. I passed on.

Later I had occasion to return to the marriage license bureau. The mother, the son and the daughter were grouped together outside.

Their voices were raised in animated conversation. A block away on the sidewalk, was the girl in white. Her steps seemed to fly and her head was erect. If she was crying, it couldn't be detected from where I was. The boy held the long, white roll in his hand. The girl pulled at his lapel, telling him what to do.

The mother was issuing the summary instructions.

And then I went away. Isn't this a peculiar story? I wonder what that girl would say if she could write it herself? We will just call her "The Girl Who Wouldn't Be Married."

SAN FRANCISCO EMBARCADERO 33 YEARS AGO IS FAR FROM BUSY MART OF TODAY

Here is what the Embarcadero in San Francisco looked like in 1893, when horse cars were the principal means of travel in the city by the Golden Gate. This rare old photo is the property of R. S. Moore, president of the Paraffine companies, Inc. Moore's company, incidentally, was one of the advertisers on the Ferry building at that time, the "P. & B. Roofing and Paint" ad being seen on the extreme right of the board. (Copyright, 1925, the Paraffine companies, Inc.)

Millions Now Pass Daily Scene Where Picture Was Taken

How many readers of this story will recall being witness to this scene of old-time San Francisco's Embarcadero, the picture of which recently was unearthed by R. S. Moore, president of the Paraffine Companies, Inc., manufacturers of Pabco products.

San Francisco's Embarcadero in 1893—32 years ago—was not such a busy thoroughfare at that time that it needed the present vehicular tunnel. And commuters did not dash through the Ferry building to catch the "5:15," because the Ferry building wasn't any more than a shack when this picture was taken.

In studying this old photo, one gets a graphic idea of the rapidity of San Francisco's growth. For this same scene, with its quaint horse cars, pedestrians with derby hats, and depot shacks, today represents the Ferry terminal, through which millions of people pass each month.

A particularly interesting feature of the photo is the type of advertising in vogue at that early date. The Paraffine companies, Inc., at the time the picture was taken, appear as one of the earliest advertisers, its advertisement of "P. & B. Roofing and Paint" appearing on the extreme right of the board.

Planes to Leave San Diego Aug. 20

SAN DIEGO, July 31.—The two PN-9 planes, which will try the non-stop flight from San Francisco to Honolulu, will leave San Diego August 20 for San Francisco, the eleventh naval district announced. The planes are being conditioned at the naval air station here.

B' roofing and paints appearing at the extreme right of the Ferry building, A. H. Irving, now general superintendent of the Emeryville factory of the company, laid more than 20,000 square feet of P. & B. roofing on the shed in the year this photo was taken. The company, when this picture was taken, was nine years old.

The advertisement is significant in that it showed that the company displayed, even at that early date, an initiative and progressive spirit which today has lifted the company to one of the great industrial enterprises of the west. Almost everything else shown in this picture has gone through some change—except apparently, the value that comes to a firm in constantly telling the public about its goods.

Permits Issued Approach Record

RIVERSIDE, July 31.—Four permits totalling $1825, brought the July building total within a few dollars of $150,000, the largest July month in the history of Riverside, with the exception of 1923, when over $200,000 in school building permits were issued.

EXPLORERS IN QUEST OF NEW OPEN FIELDS

NEW YORK, July 31.—While the world finishes its long-drawn sigh of relief over the almost despaired of safety of Roald Amundsen, Lincoln Ellsworth and the rest of the recent polar party, more than 50 explorers are in New York today considering new fields in which to work.

No wild inspiration will lead them into their next explorations. Methodically most of them are canvassing the libraries, the museums and the story repertoires of their traveling friends to see which unknown locality offers the most lure as an adventure or an interesting study. Most of them will be off before fall.

Among the many crowding the Explorers' club so that the secretary's office and the great lecture hall must be used as bedrooms, are N. J. Bolan, contractor, who has built irrigation dams and trolley lines in all parts of South America; Gerard Matthes, water-power expert; Dr. Whitehead and Dr. Peachey, two ship's doctors who have explored extensively in Chile, Peru and the Argentine; Capt. Johann Menander, who was a member of the Swedish expedition to Greenland and of the relief expedition which set out for the south pole to find Nordenskjold when he was lost; William A. Schall, South American explorer; Henry Collins Walsh, of Greenland, Morocco and Central American fame; William Bell Taylor, Peru explorer; W. A. R. Schmidt and Bradley Jones, who were on the Carnegie non-magnetic yacht during its experiments.

"They don't sit about swapping yarns," says Rudolph Kersting, secretary of the club. "They're too busy studying or planning new trips. They're only interested in new fields—not those that have been tried." Incidentally Kersting has done a bit of discovering in Greenland, Alaska and South America.

"Most of them aren't so eager to discover poles and things. That means little in the long run. The real work lies ahead—mapping the rough contours established by these explorations, learning its floors, fauna and geological history."—(Copyright, 1925, by Consolidated Press Association.)

MIGRATION TO FLORIDA HAS NO PRECEDENT

CHICAGO, July 31.—Transportation men throughout the eastern half of the country are agreed that there never has been anything like the present Florida hegira in the history of American railroading. Midsummer finds the trains in the southwest crowded to their utmost and no one appears to know just what is to be done when the regular "winter season" begins. Trains ordinarily discontinued in the summer time are being sent south daily with capacity equipment. Special excursion trains are dispatched to relieve the general travel, and yet the transportation supply is keeping but half a step ahead of the demand.

Railroads Are Jammed. Reports from Jacksonville state that the railroads south of that point are jammed as never before and there is real concern as to what is to be done with the congestion promised when the regular winter demand arrives.

Railroad travel is augmented by automobile traffic, which is breaking all records. Florida, once shunned from April to December, has now no letup at all this year except for the closing of the more exclusive hotels at resorts like Palm Beach and Miami Beach. Hundreds of hotels have been compelled to stay open to take care of the summer travelers, virtually all of whom are visiting the peninsular state with the object of buying some sort of description of property.

News of the Florida movement does not come from the real estate agents, scattered through all the length and breadth of the country, nor from the railroad officers alone.

Other Cities Anxious. You meet on the southern trains yourself. The Florida enchantment is far-reaching in its appeal. Already various cities of the south are denying that the exodus from their environs to Florida has reached a state to cause any sort of concern. But in these same cities you find the railroads busily engaged in organizing more and more "Florida excursions" and you find more and more of the natives announcing themselves as "Florida-bound."

Railroad officials estimate that from one-half to two-thirds of the present travelers to Florida return north after a week or 10 days among the palms and palm-trees. They go to look over the situation. Some buy their real estate "at first sight." Others are inclined to shop around. Many come back to get their families or to wait for the winter before taking up their southern residence. If all who go and remain expect to get north next spring, railroad men have no conception of how they can do it.

Pullman Porter Talks. "I have been running from Chicago to Jacksonville for 16 years," said a Pullman porter on the "Dixie Flyer," "and I never in all my born days expected to see anything like this. They just keep going and coming. I live just outside Jacksonville on the Dixie highway, and when I'm off duty on the railroad, I see the highway black with motor cars. They go by at all hours of the day and night."

The Jacksonville Board of Trade or the Florida Improvement association probably could give you a staggering array of figures on this subject. But you don't need them. The railroads tell the story. Florida has been "sold" to the eastern half of the country and California would do well to study some of the methods employed in the southern state. There was a time when Florida "real estate" was a joke, if not a crime.

That was when property under water was being sold to the gullibles of the north. But those days are gone forever. Nothing is being sold today "sight unseen." The real estate development companies are intent upon but one thing—getting prospective buyers on a Florida train. They say the rest is easy.

Scratches and Cuts

Thousands of mothers have Resinol. Ointment ready for the cuts, scratches, burns, etc., which daily occur in the home where there are children. They know that it is perfectly pure and harmless, that it helps to prevent infection and hastens the healing. Children will call for Resinol when hurt because it does not smart or sting even if applied to a raw, badly irritated surface.

Would Exempt Political Gifts From Taxation

BERLIN, July 31.—The new tax schedule, which, having committee approval, will be discussed by the reichstag, contains one strange provision.

Money given to political parties will be exempted from all income tax.

This is considered a curious form of class legislation. It is certain to stimulate gifts by the rich, who are subject to the highest percentage of taxes, and thus would seem to enable the parties containing a great number of rich men to dispose of larger sums than ever for campaign purposes and increase the disadvantages of the popular parties.

Seismograph May Be Established

RIVERSIDE, July 31.—Mayor S. C. Evans has been authorized by common council to sign a lease with the Carnegie foundation for the establishment of a seismograph station on Fairmount hill. Council has appropriated $3000 for the construction of a reinforced concrete building.

INSECTS BRING SAFETY CALCUTTA.—All steel railway cars are now being used on Indian railways. The change was not made for safety reasons but because insects ate up the wooden cars rapidly.

ST. LOUIS HOME OF FAMED POET MAY BE LIBRARY

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 31.—Two old time newspaper associates of Eugene Field have begun a movement to save the St. Louis home of the poet as a library and museum. Quick action has been made necessary by the issuance of permits to build a warehouse on the spot, but it is believed that the campaign is sufficiently well launched to insure a successful outcome.

John F. Storm, who was market editor of the St. Joseph Gazette when Field was serving as city editor of the paper, and Albert St. Clair, a printer, are the sponsors of the proposal. They have recommended that a corporation be formed with shares to be sold at $1 each, the funds to be placed under the guardianship of a large bank. This money would be used to buy not only the Field home, but a group of adjoining houses which form a solid brick row.

Sought for Library. The Field home would be used as the library and museum and the others would be rented to pay for the upkeep of the whole property. An effort is to be made to interest school children in the project, since Field's poems are known to almost every school child.

A curious incident in connection with this historic home is recalled by the present campaign for its preservation. About 20 years ago a tablet proclaiming it Field's birthplace was placed upon the building with due ceremony. It was unveiled by Mark Twain and the Count de Rochambeau, descendant of the Marquis de Lafayette, two distinguished visitors to the Louisiana Purchase exposition.

Twain Unveiled Tablet. At the important moment when the tablet was to be uncovered a cab drew up and from it alighted Roswell M. Field, of Chicago, brother of the poet. He said that while the Field family had lived in the house, the poet was born at another place. Mark Twain remarked about the inaccuracy of much history and proceeded with the ceremony. All these years the tablet has stood, mildly protested at times by the persons who were aware of the difference of opinion. Whether Eugene Field was born or merely resided on the spot, however, is said by the projectors of the Memorial museum to have no bearing on the desirability of setting up in the center of the city a monument to the poet.

SEATTLE, July 31.—With Detroit chosen as the next convocation city, Knight Templars who have been in 36th triennial convocation here, were departing for intensive sightseeing and their home today. The vote selecting Detroit for the 1928 meeting came after a spirited contest between the Michigan city and Minneapolis, during the closing session of the convention late yesterday afternoon.

Other elections yesterday were: The Rev. Dr. Mark Matthews, Seattle, grand prelate; William D. Pierce, Denver, grand captain of the guard; Harry Pollard, Washington, grand sword bearer; Right Eminent Tedrow, Oklahoma City, grand warden, and Mark Norris, Michigan, reappointed grand standard bearer.

California commandery No. 1, San Francisco, won the highest honors in the national drill contests at the university stadium. It was presented with the gold engraved band for its flagstaff and solid silver, gold lined punch bowl and cups, costing $2000 before admiring thousands at the army last night.

George W. Valley, of Denver, was advanced to the office of grand master and his first official act was the announcement of selection of Dr. Matthews as grand prelate of the grand encampment.

DEMPSEY EXPLAINS BREAK WITH KEARNS

Connie Mack is playing a mighty interesting game with his old friend, Clark Griffith in the matter of pitching.

Griffith went forth last winter and cornered all the old pitching blood on the diamond, or pretty much all of it.

Recently, when the Boston Americans figured that Quinn was no good—just as the Cleveland club had felt that Coveleskie had frozen up on the shores of Lake Erie—Mack emulated Griffith's example and acquired Quinn.

It begins to look now as though it would have paid Griff to continue his quest of old-timers, at least to the point of getting Quinn, if only to keep Connie from taking him. For Quinn is proving to be worth considerably more than his salt.

The sage Mack is giving the old boy plenty of time between games. Pitching a splitter is a hard task. It is all shoulder motion and it takes a man with muscle building power to recuperate from game to game.

Athletics Take Lead
The difference between the Athletics and the Washingtons has been marked by a hair line most of the time. It is in favor of the Athletics now because they have been a better team against the west than the Senators have, and it will favor the Athletics right through it the champs can't get in and steal an entire series from one of those western clubs.

As a matter of fact, the taking of all of one series by either the Athletics or Washington may settle the pennant race in the American league this year. In the case of the Athletics, if they were in the lead when it happened, it would clinch their lead. In the case of Washington, it would put them back in front. Anyhow, its running so close between Washington and Philadelphia that when they cheer in Washington the fans in Philadelphia hear and grit their teeth, and vice versa.

Quinn has been pitched just about eight times to get the most out of him since he went to Philadelphia. He was tried out first against Detroit and did so well that Mack grinned all over.

Gives Quinn Rest
Connie gave Quinn a good rest and then sent him against the White Sox. Result, another victory. Quinn pitched against St. Louis—should be charged against him as a defeat were it not for the absurd system of crediting wins and losses when a team changes pitchers. The score was 5-1 against Philadelphia when Quinn let his manager to the score and then lost with Groves in the box. Groves was charged with the defeat.

Mack gave Quinn a six-day rest after that game, the Athletics being on the road most of the time. Then he sent him against Boston and Quinn won, going the full game. No relief or anything in that contest.

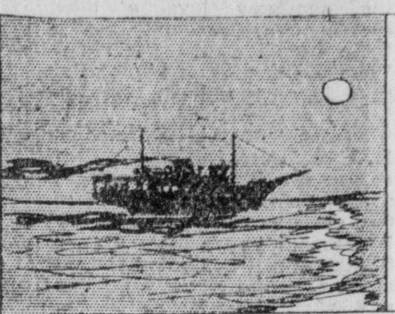

So the upshot of his stay with the Athletics is that he has won three games without assistance and has been taken out of one in which he really should be credited with a defeat. But see what a lot of good those three victories mean to the Athletics. Maybe Griff will have more and more reason to wish that he had gone after Quinn before the season ended.

Harry Wills got himself in bad when he kicked about the purse of $50,000 that he got for beating Charley Weiner. Wills didn't work up a sweat in the fight and he wasn't engaged for five minutes, and $50,000 ought to satisfy any one, especially when the contest was being staged for a charitable

Westminster Club To Meet Painters

Sunday afternoon will not be entirely devoid of baseball in Orange county despite the fact that the Orange County Summer league closed its schedule last Sunday.

Westminster, a club that finished second in the league race, will open a three-game series with the Shields Paint company at Midway City grounds. Burns and Reister probably will be the opposing flingers.

But to be fair to Wills, he has some defense. He was guaranteed 20 per cent of the receipts and when the show looked like it was not going to be a success, he was asked to accept a cut of five per cent. The promoters said he agreed. Paddy Mullins, his manager, said he did not agree and that Mrs. Wills wouldn't let him.

The show was a big success and Wills should not have been asked to take the cut. It's rather disgusting to think of any fighter getting $50,000 for fighting for charity, but business is business and Wills' contract called for $16,000 more than he received.

PREMIER STAR BOATS TO VIE IN BAY RACES

With a championship at stake, a fleet of the snappiest star boats of Southern California, primed to their best, will measure canvas at Newport Beach tomorrow and Sunday in a series of three races.

At least twelve craft, representing all the yachting clubs of the Southland, will be in the contests. Definite word has been received by James Webster, chairman of the racing committee, that six clubs would enter their quota of two boats. More may later file entries.

Winner of the races will be awarded the Newport Beach city trophy cup. In addition the best boat will be eligible to compete in the national finals to be held in September off Long island sound.

From Newport bay alone, six boats are to be in the series. The Newport Harbor Yacht club burgee will be carried by the Pollox No. 112 skippered by Jack Denman and R. C. Noble. His teammate will be Vincent Jardine's star No. 209.

The Southland Sailing club will be represented by No. 154 sailed by Preston and Edward Plum and No. 114 sailed by W. C. Hervey jr.

The Balboa Island Yacht club, the baby organization in yachting circles of the Southland, will have two boats in the contest. No. 238 skippered by Walter Lawrence and C. E. Van Landingham teamed with No. 326 sailed by Captain C. K. Sherman and Ben Cope will fly the flag of the island club.

Races are to be held on a ten-mile ocean course off Newport Beach. The first contests are scheduled Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Other series will be held Sunday in the morning at 10 o'clock and in the afternoon at 2 o'clock.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC CONQUER KINSLAWS

Timely swatting by Jordan, Bickford and Heard gave the Pacific Electric a 10 to 8 victory over the Kinslow Machine shop in last night's Santa Ana Class B league indoor baseball joust at Poly field. Jordan did the pitching for the winners and his three healthy clouts did much to give his team a win in the free hitting contest. Holmes, Sutton, E. Fields, C. Fields and Shultz all got two blows each for the Kinslows.

There was no Class A league contest last night and there will be none tonight as the Robertson-Chandlers have agreed to meet Fullerton at Fullerton. Raitt's Dairy takes on the Bowman-Prelbis in the evening's "B" league fust.

The box score:
Pacific Electric 10
Kinslow Machine shop 8
Totals 33 19 11 Totals 39 8 10

Piping 'Em Off

Yesterday's hero—Sammy Gray, of the Athletics, pitched his first full game in nearly a month and scored his fourth shutout, beating the Tigers, 9 to 0.

After taking three beatings in a row from the Pirates, the Braves turned the tables, smashed out eleven runs and won the fourth game of the series, 5 to 1.

For the ninth time in as many games the Robins battled against left handed pitching and were beaten 5 to 2 by the Cardinals.

Deedathon—Jake O'Brien, first; Warren Cook, and Thomas Drr, second; Asa Herren, third.

DENIES HE HAS SIGNED PAPERS FOR ANY BOUTS

Champion Says Match with Wills or Tunney Out of Question This Year

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, July 31.—Jack Dempsey told me over long distance this evening from Los Angeles that he had definitely severed business connections with Jack Kearns, that Tex Rickard was empowered to handle his affairs in the east and that he would not appear in New York Tuesday before the State Boxing commission as ordered. "Furthermore," he said, "I have signed no fight contracts whatever."

This cross-continent interview was sought in an effort to straighten out various and conflicting stories that have arisen on all sides regarding the heavyweight champion's plans.

"I am doing a little gymnastic work every day and keeping fit," Dempsey said, "but it will be impossible for me to fight Harry Wills or Gene Tunney this year."

Asked regarding the often-reported fight to be staged by Floyd Fitzsimmons in Michigan City during September, Dempsey reiterated that he had not signed for this or any other bout.

"Floyd is a friend of mine and when he asked me if I would fight for him, I told him I would on condition it wasn't a hard match."

"Have you talked with Jack Kearns?" I asked him.

"Yes, we had a little business to settle up," Dempsey replied.

"That's all straightened out now. We've split our realty holdings and in the future I'm going to do my own business."

While he is on the coast, however, Dempsey said he had given Tex Rickard a virtual power of attorney to conduct his eastern affairs. It was stressed that Rickard acted only as a friend associate in these affairs and not as a promoter.

Regarding the New York commission's threat to vacate his title because of his failure to accept the challenge of Harry Wills, Dempsey said he was sorry business prevented his attendance at the Tuesday meeting.

"I suppose the commission has the right to do that," he said, "and I am not going to fight them on that score. It does seem that before taking any such drastic action they should give me time to get in shape by taking on at least one other match before accepting Wills as my opponent."

Dempsey emphatically nailed one of ten published stories regarding his last appearance before the commission, when the dove of peace seemed to hover over his proceedings with the New York commission.

NEW AUDITORIUM MAY BE REALIZED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 31.—Rumors of a new band stand and municipal auditorium to be built on piling over the ocean, have been heard here recently, following the recent decision to move the present band stand to another location.

The establishment of amusement equipment in the park now occupied by the band stand was

U. S. CHAIRMAN WILL SPEAK OF CLARA BARTON

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 31.—Mrs. Dixie W. Owens, 72, national president of the Clara Barton Memorial Association, will speak here Sunday afternoon at the band stand, it was announced today.

Mrs. Owens came to Huntington Beach recently to collect funds to assist in perpetuating the memory of Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross.

Mrs. Owens, despite her age, is healthy and active. She will speak on the subject of "Great People I Have Known." She was a personal friend of William Jennings Bryan.

Mrs. Owens plans to remain in this city for some time. It is her first visit to Huntington Beach, although she has been in Southern California a great many times. She crossed the United States 27 times. She also assisted in building the Lincoln memorial statue in the park at Long Beach.

The organization of a Clara Barton Memorial association in this city is the aim of Mrs. Owens. She plans to deliver other talks on various subjects at local churches.

P. E. Lays Tracks Across River to Ship Out Beets

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 31.—Preliminary preparations for the start of the beet season were being made here today by the Pacific Electric railway company, which yesterday started work on laying a track across the Santa Ana river bed, near Talbert.

Each year the company lays a dike across the river and builds their tracks across the river. With the coming of winter the dike is graded down and the tracks are removed.

Beet plowing will start soon, it is expected, and the fill across the river was made in preparation to haul beets from the various dumps along the Santa Ana. Several hundred acres of beets are planted in and about Huntington Beach.

LEGION WOMEN GIVE CLOTHING

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 31.—Assisted by members of the American Legion here the Legion Auxiliary, headed by Mrs. T. C. Vincent, will soon leave for Camp

Kearney, where they will visit disabled soldiers. Both local organizations are now at work collecting clothes for the soldiers at the camp.

According to local Legion authorities, many of the boys at the camp do not have enough clothes for their needs. Hearing of the condition some time ago the Legion auxiliary here took up the matter of securing clothing for the soldiers. The Legionnaires have been assisting them.

Already a considerable amount of clothing has been collected but more clothes of the better sort are needed. Many of the boys at Camp Kearney are forced to stay in camp on their day off because they lack presentable clothes to appear on the street, it is claimed.

The Legion Auxiliary members will motor to the southern city in the near future with the clothing. They will also take articles of home cooking, which the boys do not get in camp.

WOULD BLOCK USE OF RADIO IN ADVERTISING

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Controversy over radio advertising has been received by the announcement of Congressman Sol Bloom, of New York, that he will introduce a bill at the next session of congress to prohibit advertising through the air. All broadcasters are more or less interested in this much-debated question and many of the regular listeners realize its bearing upon their nightly entertainment.

Radio broadcasting history is mixed up apparently inextricably with advertising. Itself an "ad" for the advertiser, the possibilities of receiving sets, broadcasting as such was instituted by the Westinghouse Electric company to create a market for radio receivers. Other businesses and industries, seeing the possibilities of the ether as an advertising medium, entered the field, to the extent that the person surveying the broadcasting station for the first time today would find himself thoroughly perplexed as to how the system works.

Aims Purely Business
There are those stations, headed by WEAF, New York, and exemplified in the middle west by WHT and WBBM, Chicago, whose aims are frankly commercial, and who rent their facilities to any concern that wants to send its message through the air without mentioning the prices or the grades of its products.

There are other stations, and among them are the voices of the Westinghouse Electric company, the General Electric company and the Radio Corporation of America, who are willing to give their stations free of charge to announce concerns that will promise to present high grade entertainment and pay for the talent used. In return, the name of the concern is used just as it is over the strictly commercial stations.

Then there are other stations, representing clothing stores, radio stores, and manufacturers of products unrelated to radio, who find it profitable to present interesting radio programs with the opportunity to exploit their own names as the owner of the station.

Credit Cafe Orchestra
It has always been considered legitimate for a hotel or cafe to offer its orchestras on the air, giving due credit to the hotel or cafe by including its name in that of the musical organization. However, when a soap factory or a beef canner hires an orchestra for the same purpose, then arises the question of what are ether ads and when.

When Congressman Bloom carries out his plan of asking congress to intervene, a congressional committee is going to have a lively job determining where legitimate broadcasting begins and where it ends.

Soldier Seeks Authority For Jump Into Lake

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 31.—An official order literally to jump in Medina lake was sought by Private Ralph Watson, of Brooks field, holder of the world's record for free parachute jump. The young soldier has requested permission to jump above Medina lake and land in the water. Maj. Ralph Royce, commander of Brooks field, has endorsed the request, which was sent to the office of the chief of the air service in Washington, for final approval. Watson broke all existing records for free parachute jumps at Brooks field when he dropped more than 2000 feet before opening his parachute. The previous record was 1890 feet.

Monks to Conduct Hotel for Profit

ST. BERNARD, Switzerland, July 31.—The monks of the convent of St. Bernard are to enter the hotel business. Their hospitality, which has been proverbial for centuries, has been taken advantage of to such an extent that it became impossible to accommodate all who wished to be their guests. The monks, therefore, decided to build a hotel near the convent where travelers might be put up for the night. The revenue will be used for religious work.

Kellogg's Note On Rubber Stirs British Sarcasm

LONDON, July 31.—The British view with mild sarcasm Secretary of State Kellogg's cable to Ambassador Houghton "giving him information" concerning American difficulties over rubber rising from the high crude rubber prices here. The British think American rubber manufacturers would like the laws of the Malay states modified immediately so as to permit more rubber to be exported, exportation being regulated by conditions of the market. This is something Great Britain is pretty sure not to do, since the recent rise in crude rubber prices is one of the few rays of light here for foreign trade. The Morning Post comments sarcastically in an editorial: "We have never heard of the British ambassador at Washington receiving cables from Whitehall for his information on a similar subject, nor have we ever heard British representations when market manipulation in New York and Chicago raised the prices of wheat and sugar. Americans have neglected their opportunity in the rubber market, either through lack of enterprise, or—if that is impossible in the case of our cousins—they have waited in hope that our plantations would be ruined by overproduction, when they could have stepped in and had them for next to nothing."

The Times also feels that Secretary Kellogg's cable was rather uncalled for. (Copyright, 1925, by Chicago Daily News company.)

CRIME WAVE IS ATTRIBUTED TO SUPERSTITIONS

NEW YORK, July 31.—A battle against superstitions and ghosts, thoughts of which man would least be expected to have time for the busiest, most crowded city in the world, will be the next step in combating New York's latest wave of crimes, robberies, murders and backyard fights.

Efforts to discover the cause of the sudden rise in crime, which has held the city terrified of late, unearthed the probability that traditions imported from the homeland of foreigners or started among alien Americans by mischievous makers have been behind it. Stories of wraiths, demons and devils are common in New York, the investigation showed, and tremendous hold on persons who would least be expected to have time for them—so much so that they are being held responsible for hundreds of crimes being committed by persons frenzied by fear.

Taken Into Court

Every now and then New Yorkers read of some innocent east sider or native Greenwich Villager who takes a man or woman into court because a "love potion" has not worked. Sometimes the entrance to court is effected by a damage suit because the potion didn't work, and sometimes by an assault and battery perpetrated on the unwilling object of the affectionate one's passion.

"I'd be willing to wager some such superstition is behind half the fake heart balm suits, attempted suicides and attacks by jealous women which fill the annals of the village," Tony Moreno, a long-time resident of the village, said.

In Chinatown there still are demons to whose evil power, all sorts of things are attributed. Recently an old Chinese was found dead in a deserted building. He had told his friends the day before that demons had told him to go there to die. And he did.

"It was just a message some enemy had sent him—and he thought it came from a devil," a friend explained. "The Chinese have to be educated not to believe that threats come from demons and to resign themselves to death when they get one. A group of us are working along that line now."

Pietro Naldi, keeper of a small shop in the lower East Side, declares:

Believes in "Evil Eye"

"Belief in the 'evil eye' is still firm in the minds of the other Italians who brought their ideas with them from the old country. I'm sure many of the men who still swear the vendetta in America do it because they believe the evil eye is on them and they're destined to be bad. Under it they kill easily. We're fighting such superstitions."

Up in the Bronx, and in the tenement sections, many Jewish mothers are so zealous guarding their first-born from Lilith, who, the legend goes, will come and snatch them away, that they suspect most of their neighbors of being Lilith's agents and are ready for constant combat with each one. Rabbis are trying now to kill this idea, which they hold responsible for many of the squalls which trouble neighborhood like among the women where the belief exists.—(Copyright, 1925, by Consolidated Press Association).

FIRST TRUST BANK OPENS IN IRELAND

DUBLIN, July 31.—Ireland's first industrial trust company has opened. Hitherto, Ireland has not had a bank especially charged with industrial developments and many promising enterprises have been held up by the inability of ordinary banks to extend their scope.

The government, for example, desiring to check profiteering, passed an act guaranteeing loans to approved traders and enabling them to enter competition. But the banks would not advance funds for so long a period as 15 years. The new industrial trust will undertake this business, and it starts with the backing of the government, which is investing 50,000 pounds in its share.

The bank's directors are noted Dublin business men and include Senator Douglas, vice chairman of the senate, and William Lombard Murphy, proprietor of the Daily Independent, Ireland's largest newspaper.

Subscriptions already total 150,000 pounds and the balance of the quarter million needed will be subscribed by directors and friends, who are said to include powerful American financiers with a sympathetic interest in Ireland.—(Copyright, 1925, by The Chicago Daily News company).

Pay State $100,000 For Highway Work

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—The city and county of San Francisco yesterday paid the state highway commission $100,000, completing a half million dollar fund pledged for work on the Bay shore highway.

This highway leads southward out of the city to connect with peninsula towns and the coast route highway to Los Angeles.

Work aggregating $400,000 on the Bayshore road, paid for by the city special fund, is now approaching completion.

Hubby Shook Wife Like Cocktail So Divorce Granted

NEW YORK, July 31.—When Vice Chancellor James Fielder, in Jersey City, asked Mrs. Mary Miller Kennerup if her husband attacked her, she replied: "O, no! But he had a habit of picking me up, tossing me around, and shaking me up and down just like one would shake a cocktail. Then he'd throw me and I landed wherever he happened to aim." The vice chancellor promptly recommended the decree of divorce Mrs. Kennerup sought.

FRENCH AGREE WITH SPAIN IN MOROCCO WAR

MADRID, July 31.—The Franco-Spanish conference on Morocco has been concluded and a final agreement signed. The results are summed up as follows:

By separate agreements, signed as reached during the five-week-long conference, a practical basis for collaboration of Spain and France in Morocco has been settled. The forces of both nations will enforce a rigorous blockade of the Moroccan coast to prevent the landing of war contraband and enemy intrigues.

A close liaison will be established between the administrative and military staffs of both protectorates for the exchange of intelligence and preparation of such operations as may be deemed necessary by either side.

Pursuit in Other Zone

Either party operating in the vicinity of the frontier zone is authorized to pursue the enemy into the other zone, by land and air.

The Spanish directory points out, however, that these collaboration arrangements do not commit Spain to heavy military sacrifices and do not interfere with the directory's policy for overcoming resistance in the Spanish protectorate, mainly by blockade.

The conference has removed the frontier obstacle, a necessary preliminary to the coming French offensive against Abd-el-Krim, but on no account shall the French forces invading the Spanish protectorate, or vice versa, remain there. Mutual guarantees have been given to this effect.

Increase Tangier Police

An important point in the conference deliberations concerned Tangier. France and Spain, considering it necessary in the interests of strict neutrality of the international zone that the present intrigues against the sultan's authority should cease, have decided to increase the strength of the native police forces there.

France and Spain agree to defray the expense and hope that the local authorities of Tangier and other nations concerned will not oppose the decision.

General Primo de Riciera has returned to headquarters at Tetuan to carry out the policy outlined. He will receive shortly a visit from Marshal Petain.

COMPEL OWNERS TO TAKE DEBT BONDS

MEXICO CITY, July 31.—A government decree has been issued to compel owners to accept the $25,000,000 agrarian debt bonds issued a month ago. These owners have refused steadfastly to accept in payment for lands seized under the present Mexican agrarian laws. The director of the National Federation of Land Owners has issued a statement in which he attacks the government's policy.

"The government," he says, "by adopting a policy of compulsion is depreciating the value of the bonds and also its system of indemnification. We are unable to understand its anxiety to force the bonds on us as they do not constitute a payment but only an acknowledgment. We have compiled figures showing that the land expropriated ostensibly for the purpose good from January 1 to July 22 was 600,909 hectares (one hectare is equal to about two and a half acres.) From July 15 to July 12 the amount taken was upwards of 59,000 hectares. Allowing for Sundays and other non-working days this year's expropriations average seven and one-half hectares per minute."

The issue of $25,000,000 in agrarian bonds has been considered as but a drop in the ocean as compared with the government's total indebtedness for agrarian expropriations.

Washington Lake Rapidly Receding

HOOD RIVER, Ore., July 31.—Goose lake, in Skamania county, Washington, is receding rapidly, owing to leaks in the lake bed, according to reports that have reached here.

In a recent 24-hour period, it was said, the water sank nearly two feet. It is considered probable that the state authorities may close the lake to anglers.

In 1923, following the big earthquake in Japan, the water level in this lake began to fall rapidly. Within a few weeks, most of the fish in the lake were imprisoned in pools that were left in the bed. Indians and others went to the lake and netted large quantities of the fat trout before the vents in the lake could be filled.

Flea Is Cause Of Debate In British House

LONDON, July 31.—"When is an insect not an insect?" This is the question that is agitating London at this time; and the answer seems to be: "When it is a flea."

At any rate the matter of the flea injected itself into a recent debate in the serious house of commons on the question of an act entitled the performing animals bill and for 15 minutes the staid commoners rocked with laughter while Brig. Gen. Cockrell, who was in charge of the bill, pleaded for the inclusion of the flea under the protective measures of the act.

"The flea," said General Cockrell, "is one of the most persistent and wonderful workers in the world, and one of its best performers. But because he is an invertebrate he is not protected under the benefits of this bill—I move for his inclusion under its protection."

There was no immediate seconding of the motion and General Cockrell continued: "I see he has no friends. Yet the flea can jump 30 times his own height and draw 80 times his own weight, and shows the greatest alacrity in rising from his place. I should think that that would commend him to the favor of the Liberals."

"Furthermore he is absolutely independent of the capitalist and requires no machinery, and that should commend him to the Socialists. Again I move for the inclusion of the flea under the performing animals bill."

But the Liberals and the Socialists failed to rally to the flea's support and the motion was lost. Discussion of the cyclotome, an invertebrate, which from some constitutional defect was unable to keep its mouth shut, also was occasion for much laughter, but here again—possibly because of its constitutional defect—the invertebrates failed of friends in the house, and the motion for its protection under the bill was also lost.

LEAGUE PLANS WELCOME FOR WILSON WIDOW

GENEVA, July 31.—The Plaudits of hundreds of statesmen, and the honors that 55 member nations of the league would have bestowed on Woodrow Wilson, had he ever visited Geneva, will be paid to the ex-president's widow when she returns to Switzerland in September.

The Swiss government, it is understood, will tender official receptions in her honor and both the canton and city of Geneva will make her their official guest. Mrs. Wilson will be accompanied by Miss Evangeline Johnson, of New York, a prominent figure in the Nonpartisan League of Nations association, and a daughter of Bernard Baruch.

Wants No Display Although Mrs. Wilson has expressed a desire that her later visit be not accompanied with lavish entertainment, various league functionaries and Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general, are planning a schedule that will give her little, if any, leisure in her month's visit. The league council, under the presidency of Aristide Briand of France, will convene the first week in September. As the official governing body of the league it can not overlook the opportunity of paying tribute to the founder of the league and some fitting recognition of Mrs. Wilson's presence will be arranged.

September 7—three days after the council session—the sixth assembly of the league will be convened. It is customary to have a round of official receptions by all the larger delegations in the early days of the assembly—a sort of get-acquainted affair—and the more pretentious banquets follow later.

Will Be in Tribute The Balkan and Baltic states, especially, which are great admirers of the late American president, it is stated, will vie with each other to pay homage to the memory of the benefactor by honoring his widow.

Mrs. Wilson will be offered the picturesque villa at Onex, newly acquired by a group of Americans and league officials for the international school, for her stay. The Villa Onex is at Onex, about three miles outside of Geneva, and is easily accessible by motor or train. It has large gardens and a magnificent view of beautiful Lake Geneva. Both the Jura mountains and the Mount Blanc range are visible from its windows. If Mrs. Wilson does not accept it, some smaller villa suitable to her tastes will be obtained.

Japanese Eager To See 'King of Swat'

TOKIO, July 31.—The report that reached Japan recently from the United States that "Babe" Ruth has been offered $15,000 to tour this country next fall has created quite a bit of interest here. The Japanese are great baseball fans, and take to it naturally, as teams from their universities that have toured America prove. A tour by the "King of Swat" in Nippon should be a big attraction.

Kiss Corpse; May Contract Rabies

TULSA, Okla., July 31.—Because they kissed the dead lips of a young woman, Mrs. Mildred Weens, who died of rabies, nine relatives will take the Pasteur treatment. Doctors said the disease could be transmitted by kissing.

FEDERAL TRADE BOARD FAVORED BY PRESIDENT

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1925)

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 31.—President Coolidge will listen neither to the pleas of the radicals, that the federal trade commission be abolished, because it is ineffective, nor to the complaint of the conservatives, that it meddles too much in business and therefore should be eliminated.

The president holds no brief for all the acts of the federal trade commission but he regards it nevertheless, as a sort of business policeman doing a useful work. Recently Senator Norris, Nebraska, issued a statement criticizing the commission on the ground that President Coolidge had "packed it with reactionaries." Mr. Coolidge's views are prompted by the Norris criticism. The president is mindful of the fact that every now and then the problem of how to keep a watchful eye on business is considered by the legislative body and demands are made that a commission be abolished chiefly because it is desired to have another one created with an entirely different personnel. He does not think the problem will be solved by simply abolishing old commissions and creating new ones, and the cure lies in doing everything possible to make the existing commission more helpful.

Performed Useful Service The president does not pretend to know what rules shall be formulated for the procedure of the commission but he does feel that in spite of the criticism, that it sometimes has gone too far, and the suggestion also that frequently it does not go far enough. The commission has nevertheless performed a useful service to the country and he will not favor its abolition.

The present controversy is the outgrowth of two distinct complaints, made by the opponents of the commission. One is that the personnel has been so manipulated in the last two or three years that the commission is dominated by the conservatives, who make its rules, the criticism of this being that big business or rather improper and unfair activities of business competitors is not curbed as effectively as it would be by the rules previously prevailing. The other point is that the commission has declined to conduct investigations prescribed by congress in clearing a lack of authority. This will not doubt precipitate a debate in the next session of congress. If it is apparent that the radicals cannot win support to abolish the federal trade commission they may seek to amend the act so as to make it more difficult to allege offenses to escape publicity if not punishment.

Steers Middle Course The important point to be borne in mind is that Mr. Coolidge does not give evidence as yet of being ranged on either side but as steering a middle course between the two factions. The truth, of course, is that the controversy is causing much more scrutiny of the acts of the commission than might otherwise be the case and the majority on the commission is not likely to go as far in squelching or ignoring disputes as some extremists in the world of big business would have had them. And the result will be the retention of the federal trade commission as the guardian of the "little fellow," who can prove he is being injured by the unfair practices of a strong and influential competitor.

Favor Horses for Short Dray Hauls

NEW YORK, July 31.—Prophets who predicted the complete disappearance of the horse in industry are learning that the horse is staging a comeback, and in many places is replacing the motor truck.

Large trucking companies have reached the conclusion that horses are more economical to maintain for short hauls than motor cars.

Harry N. Taylor, president of the United States Trucking company, says:

"Trucking rates in New York City are based on the time taken to make the delivery rather than on the distance hauled." That means, according to figures compiled by various companies, every time a motor truck is idle or stopped in a traffic jam it costs the company three times as much as if a horse-driven wagon were used. The motor truck remains as the best transportation facility over long distances. But in the meantime more and better horses are being bred to meet the increased demand for more economical drayage.

Discovers Grave 2000 Years Old

NAPA, Calif., July 31.—A. E. Elton, a geologist of Winters and a former Napa resident, while making a geological survey near Eureka, Humboldt county, for an oil company, uncovered the grave of a prehistoric Indian.

Elton stated that the Indian was buried not less than 2000 and likely 10,000 years ago.

Above the skeleton was a covering of what had once been wood. This crumbled when touched. Upon the chest of the savage was the skull of a bird, probably buried with the corpse as part of the funeral ceremonies. The body was under several strata of sand and shells.

The action of tide and storm had cut deep back into a cliff, and buried the ancient grave.

STREET CAR FARES UP

MINNEAPOLIS, July 31.—Street car patrons of Minneapolis and St. Paul will start paying an eight-cent fare August 1. The federal courts have upheld the decision of the railroad commission granting an eight-cent fare with 10 tickets for 60 cents.

W. U. Goodman, Suisun, grand prelate of the Knights of Pythias, domain of California, paid an official visit to Santa Ana lodge, at its meeting in the K. of P. hall, Wednesday night. Goodman is on a six weeks' tour that will take him to every K. of P. lodge from Santa Barbara south.

A 100 per cent increase in membership is planned by the order before January 1, the grand prelate told local lodgemen. Facts concerning the order's home for aged members in Sonoma county were given by him.

Others who spoke at Wednesday night's session were H. E. McKenzie, Long Beach, member of Goodman's staff; George Miller, Tustin, and H. A. Gardner, Santa Ana.

Following the meeting, a program of entertainment was rendered. The numbers consisted of selections on a saw by E. C. Richardson, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Richardson; songs by Walter Morrow, and Spanish dances by Miss Faustina Lucero. Accompanying Miss Lucero were Helena Allen, piano, and S. Gonzalez, violin. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served later in the evening.

Santa Ana lodge members will attend the meeting of the Tustin lodge next Tuesday night, when the Knight rank is conferred. Edward W. Cochems, charter commander, stated today. The lodge hall before 7:30 p. m.

Fraternal News

W. R. C. Federation

With the national president of the order, Mrs. Grace Willard, of Los Angeles, present, as well as several district officers, Federation No. 1, Woman's Relief corps, held its regular meeting at Huntington Beach, July 27.

Mrs. Willard talked along the lines of patriotism. Another speech on this subject was given by Mrs. Chaplain, second vice president of the American Legion auxiliary at Huntington Beach.

The next gathering of the federation will be held in Whittier, September 22.

The morning session was given over chiefly to business and talks, with the afternoon devoted to a program.

Past department officers introduced were Mrs. Martha A. Packard, Los Angeles; Ida Gribling, Long Beach, and Mrs. Alice A. Young, Santa Ana.

Decision was made to continue the federation's membership campaign for another three months.

The Orange corps won the prize for having the largest number of members present.

The following program was rendered: Reading, Mrs. Carlton Comrad, Huntington Beach; vocal solo, Dr. Howes, Huntington Beach; reading, Martha A. Packard, Los Angeles; reading, Donna Jones, Huntington Beach; vocal solo, Mr. Howell.

Calumpit Camp

At a joint meeting of Admiral Glass camp and auxiliary, U. S. V. of Los Angeles, July 22, Junior Vice Department Commander Charles E. Dixon, of Calumpit camp No. 26, Santa Ana, made the presentation speech and delivered to Admiral Glass camp a portrait of Admiral Henry Glass, the distinguished naval officer, after whom the camp was named. Comrade Dixon was the organizer of the camp in 1903.

Prominent national department and camp officers were present to witness the presentation and after the ceremony the assembly retired to the banquet hall and partook of a repast provided by President Eaton and other members of the auxiliary.

Calumpit camp and auxiliary had an enjoyable water hike and a plunge party at Huntington Beach, June 23. About 125 persons participated. Later in the evening, the party adjourned to the plunge.

Tuesday evening, the members of Calumpit camp and auxiliary, to the number of 70, met at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Dixon and proceeded in a body to the home of Bertha Dugdale to surprise Mrs. Hannah Benz, of Portland, Ore., who is visiting relatives and friends here and who was calling on Mrs. Dugdale. Mrs. Benz is a member of Calumpit auxiliary and the sister of Comrade Dan R. Meers. The party was a complete surprise to her. The guests played charades and games, had readings and music. Generous dishes of ice cream followed by cake and coffee were served. Mrs. Benz was presented with a cut glass paper holder on behalf of the friends assembled.

Those present were W. W. Tantlinger and family, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Cooper, Charles E. Chatlain and family, Charles E. Dixon and family, Charles W. Winter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Members of the county board of supervisors have been invited as especial guests.

"NATIVE SONS" WILL ATTEND MISSION PLAY

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 31.—With large numbers of various chapters of the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West planning to attend the performance, at 3 o'clock this afternoon of the mission pageant-play at San Juan Capistrano, dedicated to the organization, the summer outdoor spectacle is becoming a mecca for artists, stage folk and students, as well as those identified with historical and patriotic associations.

The pageant-play written and directed by Garnet Holme, has achieved a reputation, not only as an epic drama of California history, but as an extraordinary presentation of the costumes and picturesque customs of the Alta California of the last century.

Almost all the quaint costumes worn by the players, the majority of whom are descendants of the Spanish pioneers, came around the Horn from Spain when Los Angeles and San Diego were pueblos.

Not only are sketch pads and cameras much in evidence at the Sunday performance, but film directors and stage managers are finding the play an inspiration for future productions. Sigurd Russell, of the Potboilers, is one of the most recent of the visitors of the stage world to see the pageant-play worthy of an all day inspection.

Plans are being perfected for a huge patriotic pilgrimage to the mission on August 16 when several organizations will join with the public in an all-day excursion to include a bathing party and picnic luncheon on Capistrano beach before attending the pageant-play.

Arrangements are being made to accommodate from 500 to 750 visitors at the beach luncheon and with reserved seats at the pageant.

HEAVY YIELD OF APPLES AT MESA EXPECTED

COSTA MESA, July 31.—Heavy yield of apples are loading the trees of the Mesa this year, according to George A. Waterman, veteran apple grower and marketer who has the largest orchard in the district.

"In about 10 days the first of the fall apples will be ready to market," Waterman said. "The early apples are now about gone and the late crop is nearly ready to harvest."

Over 500 acres in Costa Mesa are devoted to the growing of apples. From the orchards it is expected that thousands of boxes of the fruit will be picked.

"This year's crop is very heavy and of good quality," Waterman explained. "This is generally true for all orchards have been cared for in the Mesa."

"The harvest appears to be one of the largest we have had in years. Last season the crop was light and, by the alternation of years, this crop is certain to be exceptionally heavy," the apple man explained.

In 1910, Waterman set out the first trees at Costa Mesa. Now this section is considered one of the important apple growing centers in the Southland. One of the popular varieties that was introduced by Mesa growers was the Arkansas Beauty.

The season is closing for the varieties of Early Harvest, Red Astrachan and Crab apples. The first of the fall crop will be the Banana apple.

Immediately following the Banana apples yield there will come the Arkansas Beauty, Jonathan and King David apples. Then the Delicious, Pearmain, and Winesap will be due and finally the Rome Beauty will be harvested.

APPROVAL OF $350,000 BOND ISSUE FOR WATER SYSTEM IS GIVEN BY NEWPORT TRUSTEES

NEWPORT BEACH, July 31.—In the face of threatening opposition, approval of the full $350,000 water bond issue was given at the meeting of the city board of trustees here late yesterday in special session.

By a unanimous vote of all five councilmen, a resolution was passed placing the board unqualifiedly in support of the entire issue.

Proceedings were started to call an election of the voters at the earliest date possible. The ordinance taking official action on the issue will be placed before the board at the regular meeting Monday when the election date will be set for the first week in August.

Opposition to the water bonds is to be combated by a program of education, according to plans of the councilmen. Efforts will be made to show the dire need of the water issue if the growth and development of the city was to continue.

The $350,000 water election was the first plan submitted to the city by Paul Kressly, city engineer. It calls for additional pumping equipment in the Santa Ana river bottoms, a reservoir northeast of the city, a new distributing system for the sandpit, a supply line to Corona del Mar and an emergency main under the bay.

With the new system installed water needs for the city will be supplied for a period of about 20 years, it was estimated. Great expansion in growth was envisioned on completion of the project.

"If we expect to take care of development we must build for the future," Councilman Fred Young said. "Under present conditions our water supply is hindering progress and giving the city a bad reputation."

The belief was expressed that a complete system for the entire district would be approved by the voters while a project to benefit one section might not gain support. Criticism of installing the line to Corona del Mar was declared by Councilman S. Cardoza Sloan to be "spite work."

It is intended to have the entire system completed by the opening of the summer season next year. Bids for the construction are to be advertised for a month following the calling of the election.

Decision of the board of trustees to support the large issue was arrived at after extended investigation. Consideration was given a number of plans calling for lighter issues but it was believed that the city would benefit in the end by the $350,000 election.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Hale motored to Orange County park Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lynch motored to Corona Sunday.

Miss Connors Woodside and Ernest Kealey spent the week-end with friends at Long Beach.

Garden Grove's proposed park at the corner of Stanford and Euclid avenues seems practically assured by the announcement of H. A. Lake, chairman of the park committee, that the necessary $10,000 in cash, notes and pledges has been secured and that a formal bid has been made to the executor of the Simons estate for the property.

Spectacular work on the part of the sub-committee last week, composed of George R. Reyburn, J. G. Allen, Fred Andres, is responsible for bringing on the balance of the notes required to complete the purchase. If the bid is accepted it is proposed to sell the Simons house now standing on the property. The park committee members are Mr. Lake, J. M. Woodworth and J. A. Knapp.

The Business and Professional Women's club has announced a picnic at Orange County park for August 12. This was decided at a recent meeting of the organization.

FURS WILL BE DISPLAYED BY PRETTY GIRLS

LAGUNA BEACH, July 31.—Senorita Faustina Lucero of Santa Ana, a Spanish beauty who has taken up dancing as a recreation, is to be a feature of the Fashion Show at the Community club Wednesday evening, August 6. The show is in connection with La Fiesta Espanola and is for the benefit of the Community club.

Senorita Lucero will dance numbers reminiscent of Spain and Mexico. Her costumes are usually lovely and her musical settings for her dances have been specially arranged, using the music of Spain and Mexico as the motif. Especially lovely is a gypsy number done by the Spanish dancer; her Spanish bit is made lovelier by a beautiful shawl which she wears draped about her body in the true Spanish style; her Mexican dances embody the very spirit of the country.

Senorita Lucero has been dancing this year before many clubs and theaters and has been most fortunate in her work. Her press notices are most pleasing.

The Fashion Show, which will be staged the same evening, Thursday, will show $10,000 worth of wonderful furs, worn by 15 of the loveliest matrons and misses of Laguna Beach, who will act as mannikins for the benefit of La Fiesta Espanola.

In addition to the Fashion Show and the dances of Senorita Lucero, several local dancers are to be seen and Mrs. Eddie Klein of Long Beach will do a vaudeville act that has become famous from New York to San Francisco. As the female member of the team of Murphy and Klein, and known as Elsie Murphy, Mrs. Klein was one of the outstanding hits of vaudeville before she decided to quit the stage and live in retirement in Long Beach, where her husband is a soloist in the band of Herbert Clark.

WE MUST HELP

Santa Barbara's charitable institutions are in desperate need of financial help because of the loss sustained by reason of the earthquake. To the end that this be promptly and freely given, the Special Relief Fund committee of the California Development association, has asked that every community in the state organize teams which will make a house to house campaign soliciting funds to be applied to the worthy purpose above referred to. In making known the desire and plan of the committee, its chairman, C. C. Teague, states that this plan is one which he believes can be made a success in California, because every community in the state has its Chamber of Commerce or similar organization, which will see to it that every dollar collected for the rehabilitation of Santa Barbara's charities will be handed over to them without the deduction of one cent for collection or other expenses.

Santa Ana will undoubtedly do its part toward the desired end, and this may be accepted as timely notice of what is hoped for from this community.

One of the most curious notions we've heard of lately is Meredith Nicholson's suggestion that the American people are losing their curiosity.

DIGGING IN ARMAGEDDON

Now the archeologists, spurred on by notable discoveries in Egypt and Mesopotamia, are tackling the Holy Land afresh, to see what they can discover of Hebrew and pre-Hebrew history. Particularly they are tackling Armageddon.

That is almost a name to conjure with. Students of American politics will recall the battle cry of Theodore Roosevelt in 1912, "We stand at Armageddon, and we battle for the Lord." Students of Scripture will recall the famous passage in Revelation, referring to the last days:

"And he gathered them together into a place called in the Hebrew tongue Armageddon, and the seventh angel poured out his vial into the air; and there came a great voice out of the temple of heaven, from the throne, saying, 'It is done.' And there were voices, and thunders, and lightnings; and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were upon the earth, so mighty an earthquake and so great."

Armageddon was a famous battlefield from of old, a natural meeting place of Asiatic and African armies, in their forays and wars, just as Troy was for Asia and Europe. Doubtless many a decisive battle was fought there long before the Children of Israel came and drove out the Philistines. Possibly, too, the diggers will find evidence, as they found at Troy, of several different civilizations, piled one upon another, and all overwhelmed at last in a common ruin.

Past, present and future meet, as rarely elsewhere, in that old battleground, as scientists and historians gather there, financed by John D. Rockefeller Jr., and labor to piece together the jigsaw puzzle fragments they find, revealing a little more of the strange story of man.

Handsome is as handsome does; and whatever the facts about evolution may be, human beings don't have to act like monkeys.

RUBBER BUYERS REBEL

Now England as well as America is kicking about the rigging of the rubber market by British capitalists who control East Indian rubber production. The strongest protests come from the rubber manufacturers, who find the demand for their goods falling off as they are forced to raise prices to meet the cost of raw material. The British public is growing indignant that the many must suffer for the benefit of the few.

The protest seems well founded, even when it is admitted that the rubber growers' policy is legitimate in principle. For a while they produced rubber at a loss. That was wrong; the market should pay the cost of what it gets. Then they worked out a scheme by which crude rubber should be fed into the world market according to demand, as registered in price, the supply being held back proportionately when prices fell, and increased as prices rose. That looked logical, and does now to any fair-minded person, as long as it means scientific control and not predatory monopoly.

The first effort failed, and the growers got less than their crop was worth. The second effort has succeeded beyond their expectations, and they are now getting far more than the rubber is worth.

It ought to be a fairly simple matter to figure out what constitutes a fair selling price, and then control the supply so as to keep the market price at about that level, as was the original intention. If the growers will not do that, the whole world of rubber-users will combine to smash an intolerable monopoly.

Evidently the hardest thing President Coolidge has to do is to take a vacation.

IT'S A STORMY WORLD

The Meteorological office of the British government tells the world that there are at least 100 lightning flashes a second, year in and year out, winter and summer. Of course they are scattered over the whole earth so that no section is subjected to this perpetual bombardment. The earth also has to endure 16,000,000 thunder storms a year—around 44,000 a day. And in any given second, says this report, more energy is released from clouds than the world's water power stations produce in six months.

Thank goodness the tourist who meets the friend of a friend in some foreign land is wrong when he says "it's a small world, after all." At least it is big enough to absorb this vast amount of thunder, lightning and rain without giving any part more than its endurable share.

SENSE AT LAST IN EUROPE

Perhaps the most important event in the world is now occurring so quietly that not much has been said about it. France is marching out of the Ruhr. Slowly, unobtrusively, French troops are withdrawing from city after city in the great industrial area which dominates German business life.

The French went into those cities with a flourish of trumpets and blare of drums, not to mention President Poincare's oratory. They emerge silent. The Germans themselves have been rather silent, hardly believing what they see, and fearing by some tactless word to mar their good fortune.

Here is proof that France, today the strongest military power in Europe, with the world's finest army in her hands, lately feared as a second Prussia, is turning again to a pacifist policy under leadership wiser than Poincare's. Here is proof that Germany is carrying out her pledges at last, and France is content with performance. The two powers that have most disturbed the world for a decade—first Germany and then France—both seem to be yielding to common sense and substituting co-operation for warfare. This is infinitely better for both, and better for Europe and all the world.

Science May Obviate Ruin

Pasadena Star-News.

Eastern newspapers, for the most part, have been quite fair and kindly in commenting upon the Santa Barbara earthquake and upon the general subject of earthquakes in California. One big New York daily chides Californians a bit, saying that there has been too much effort to create the impression that earthquakes do not occur often in this state and that any region is liable to have earthquakes. This charge hardly will stand against representative newspapers or citizens of California. What has been done and is being done by loyal Californians, is to attempt to frustrate efforts in other states to exaggerate earthquake losses and perils here. It is the exact truth that the loyal Californian wants broadcast—not understatement, and not exaggeration.

Suggestion is made in Eastern journals that scientists study earthquakes more intensely, so as to forecast their coming, if possible. And the suggestion is made that buildings should be constructed to withstand earthquake shock.

These things are receiving intensive attention here in California. Scientists are studying the "fault" about Santa Barbara more thoroughly than an earthquake ever was studied before. The results of this intensive research may be embodied practically in the rebuilding of Santa Barbara. It even has been suggested that the exhaustive investigation may lead to abandonment of State street for large edifices and the selection of some other street as the main business thoroughfare.

As to building to withstand earthquake shock, this also is receiving careful, intelligent attention. The type of construction that best has withstood earthquake shock in Santa Barbara and other cities will be favored in the rebuilding of the Channel City.

California is going to benefit from the lessons of the Santa Barbara tremor. And this state is not trying to represent itself to the world as being immune to earthquakes. It is saying to the world, however, that the loss of life and property by earthquakes in this state in the last hundred years are negligible, compared to elemental losses of other descriptions—floods, for instance, in the regions where such visitations are common. It truthfully has been said that in the great tornado which a few weeks ago swept from Missouri to Indiana, more lives were lost than have been lost in earthquakes in California from the earliest period of its history down to date.

Influence of Play

Stockton Independent.

No greater influence in Americanization exists today than the great American game of baseball in the opinion of William Allen White, well-known veteran Kansas editor. Mr. White, who has just returned from Honolulu, where he attended the Institute of Pacific Relations, finds that baseball and kindred sports have done more to Americanize the youth of the islands than any other influence.

There can be little doubt of the feeling of fraternity and understanding that develops among people who play together. The Olympics and all similar meets are important not only for the new records they establish in the realms of sport but for the new friendships and contacts that are made between young people of all nationalities.

The interchange of students among all the universities and colleges of the world, the exchange also of professors, and the international contests in the world of sports, all will prove of inestimable value in drawing the coming generation closer together in bonds of sympathy and understanding.

And just as international meets will foster good-will among the young people of all countries, so in communities opportunity for all youngsters to participate in baseball and other sports will make for a finer democracy and citizenship of the future. Think of Stockton's baseball lots, swimming, bathing, parks, all as factors in real Americanization work and gain a new appreciation of their value in the making of future citizens.

EDITORIAL SHORTS

Nelson T. Edwards, member of the state highway commission, stated Friday, while in Riverside with Governor Richardson and other members of the highway commission organization, that the commission will next year take over the highway from Shaver's Well to Mecca for maintenance as a part of the Mecca-Blythe highway. Legislation for a cut-off between Shaver's well and the highway at Thermal or some other point failed. This means, for a time at least, that the traffic will continue to go through the principal Coachella Valley points.—Riverside Enterprise.

Leon O. Whitsett, a member of the Orange County Board of Supervisors, is Governor Richardson's appointee to the State Railroad commission. This is the second member of that board the Governor has called into larger services. Nelson Edwards, Southern California member of the State Highway commission being the other. If Mr. Whitsett makes as capable and fine a public servant as Mr. Edwards, there will be nothing left to be desired in his new capacity.—Redlands Facts.

Up in Napa, California, the other day, the Laundry baseball nine white-washed the opposing team. Which was the thing for a laundry team to do. Hope it ironed out the situation satisfactorily but did not mangle the remains.—Redlands Facts.

ICE CREAM MAKES GOOD FOOD

Ice cream is a good food for both children and grownups, providing it is properly made. It contains butterfat and other solids of milk, including proteins and mineral matters, as well as sugar and flavor.

The fat and sugar contents insure a high caloric value. The butterfat renders it an excellent source of vitamin A.

Its milk proteins are builders of muscles and other tissues, and its minerals furnish materials for bones and teeth.

Ice cream promotes health and growth among children. This has been proven by leading health authorities in different cities.

Underweight children show a marked improvement in growth and health when given a dish of ice cream each day for lunch.

When fed ice cream these children also become more alert and vigorous, and show decided improvement in their studies in school.

In one of the camps where disabled soldiers were quartered following the war ice cream was used as a part of the regular diet. Marked improvements in the health and physical condition of these young men were shown as a result of eating this ice cream.

Some people will not drink milk. For these ice cream is recommended, because ice cream contains much of the same food elements found in milk.

Laws and Law Enforcement

One of the greatest of the Greeks remarked that "Wise men, though all laws were abolished, would lead the same lives."

Never was there so wild a fantasy as that which prompts the belief that the law can make good citizens; that morality may be legislated into the minds and hearts of men; or that either temporal or spiritual prosperity is, in any important degree, the result of legislative enactment.

In some parts of the United States the citizen is governed by more than sixteen thousand separate and distinct statutes. Legislative enactments in this country are increasing at the rate of about 6,000 per annum, while the judges of appellate courts, state and federal, are handing down opinions at the rate of 100,000 per year. Each opinion having all the weight and binding force of law. And the common citizen is presumed to know them all! "Corruption abounding in the commonwealth, the commonwealth abounded laws," wrote Tacitus of the Romans. May it not be as truly said of us?

If America has experienced a greater degree of failure in dealing with crime than have other nations upon the same plane of civilization, that failure must be in great measure ascribed to our fixed habit of invoking the legislative panacea upon all occasions. A body of law so complex and voluminous as to be wholly beyond the knowledge of the average man of learning and experience must inevitably lose the sympathy and respect of the people. The American Law Institute is now seeking to arrive at a restatement of the law. The greater part of it needs no restatement but repeal.

Law enforcement always becomes more difficult with the increase in the number and complexity of the statutes. Whenever the body of law becomes so vast and unwieldy as to pass beyond the comprehension of the public, as was the case with ancient Rome, and as is rapidly becoming the case with us, the written code is insensitively and imperceptibly absorbed and blended in the will of its administrators; principles are lost sight of and merged in the dominant will of the office-holding class; with the result, finally, that we are governed by department rules and bureaucratic regulations, until the law becomes a thing, first hated, then ignored, and then despised. In such conditions a healthy social growth is not to be expected.

JOY COMES, GRIEF GOES

Joy comes, grief goes, we know not how;
Everything is happy now.
Everything is upward striving
'Tis as easy now for the heart to be true
As for grass to be green or skies to be blue—
'Tis the natural way of living;
Who knows whither the clouds have fled?

In the unscarred heavens they leave no wake;
And the eyes forget the tears they have shed.
The heart forgets its sorrow and ache;
The soul partakes the season's youth,
And the sultrious rifts of passion and woe
Lie deep 'neath a silence pure and smooth,
Like burnt-out craters healed with snow.

Pop was late for dinner today, and everything was red and ma kept on looking at the clock and talking out loud to herself about it, and pop came in and saw ma's face and quick kissed it, saying, "Well, how's everything, is dinner ready?"

-Ages-

Since wee little Mary has grown just past two, she is proud of her age as can be. She likes folks to question her, "How old are you?" And she answers, "I'm growin' on three."

When uncles and aunts come to visit this tot; when neighbors drop in for a spell, she always will say, "Someone ask me my age, 'cause mother has taught me to tell."

You'd think, after while, that the answer would wane; that Mary'd forget all about it. But, somehow or other, it sticks in her brain and she always is ready to shout it.

And yet, I'll just bet you, in years yet to be, we'll find that she's rather upstage, and dodging the answer to you and to me if we happen to ask her her age.

Paying the Price

La Belle (Mo.) Star.

Life conducts no bargain counters, not cut-rate sales. Everything in life has its fixed price, in plain figures, and every man and woman must pay for what they get. It is an immovable law and you can't beat it. There are no exemptions, and the statute of limitations does not apply.

Would you have health? You must practice self-denial and curb your appetite and go to bed nights instead of attending wild parties.

Would you have riches? The price is labor and thrift—hard work and a regular saving. Too many of us spend our earnings before they are received.

Would you have friends? The price ticket calls for a generous helping hand to those in trouble—a willingness to share the joys and sorrows of those about you.

Would you have love? You must keep yourself personally attractive, interesting, amiable, friendly. Nobody loves a slouchy, sloppy man, or a peevish, nagging woman.

Would you have a happy home? The price ticket calls for domesticity. You must feel that your place is at home instead of at a poker game; you must look upon your wife as your partner. If a woman you must make the home comfortable, learn to be thrifty and economical, and supply good food for the family. Nagging will drive any man to other company.

Would you have fine children? The price of life's store is self-sacrifice, you must give them nearly 20 years of your life and the price of several automobiles, before their feet are firmly fixed on the right path.

Just at this time it is because fathers and mothers are unwilling to pay the price of parenthood that so many boys and girls go astray. It has been said that we get out of life just what we pay for—and no more. Every debt must be paid in some manner sooner or later—but it is not fair to pass some of it on to the innocent children.

Increasing

Contrary to widely circulated reports that the "American" Indian is dying off at an alarming rate in the great southwest, the Pueblos and other Indian populations are holding their own and increasing at a rate nearly as high as that shown by census figures for the white population.

Dr. Edgar L. Hewett, director of the School for American Research of the Archaeological Institute of America located at Santa Fe, N. M., has transmitted to the American Association for the Advancement of Science a report of a census just made that shows that in the last decade the population of Pueblo villages has increased 22.2 per cent, and now totals to 10,565. Only one Pueblo showed a decrease, and that was due to an influenza epidemic a few years ago.

During the same period the entire population of the United States increased 39 per cent, part of which was due to immigration. These figures Dr. Hewett considers adequate refutation of the general idea that there has been a "startling decrease in our primitive population."

NO. 5—THE QUEER BUTTER DISH

At last Juggle Jump and the Twins reached the Royal Palace in Tumble Town and asked to see the king.

"He is just sitting down to lunch," said the footman with a hop skip and jump. "But just come into the dining room and he can talk to you while he is eating."

So six servants led the way all hopping first on one foot and then the other.

"What can I do for you, good people?" asked the king laying down his work which laid clear across the wobbling table and fell to the floor with a clatter.

"We are looking for Puff's lost button," said Juggle Jump. "He's so fat from tasting that his lost button flew off and bounced over the hill to this place. Did you see it?"

"No," said the king. "But if I'm not mistaken I see about six dozen buttons on your coat. Couldn't you spare him a few? But don't stand there. Come and sit down everybody and eat something."

As the chairs kept moving and the table kept moving and everything in the king's dining room kept moving it was quite a time before the three of them managed to get themselves seated.

When the soup was brought it slashed so that it was hard to get a spoonful.

"Dear! Dear!" said the king finally. "It's very hot weather. Too hot for hot soup. It should be cold soup. Very cold soup! Solid soup that won't spill. I shall speak to the cook. Now tell me the story of your buttons, Mister Juggle Jump."

"Certainly, sir!" said Juggle

Jump. And then he explained that by pressing different buttons he could make himself any size he wished.

"Dear! Dear!" said the king of Tumble Town again. "I wish I had a coat like that. Then I could eat all I wished and not be afraid of getting too fat. I'd press the 'thin' button once a week and begin all over again. A present like that would be much more worth while than a butter dish."

Suddenly he stopped and called one of the jumping servants. "Hey, there! This butter is melting and running all over the tablecloth. Take it away."

"It's the holes, sir!" said the servant. "The new pearl butter-dish that your aunt sent you yesterday for your birthday is full of holes. Four round holes all alike and right in the middle. It is a most curious butter-dish."

Suddenly Nancy thought of something. "May I see it?" she asked.

"Certainly," said the king handing it over.

"Why, it's Puff's button!" she cried. "It's the one he sneezed off when he was peppering the potatoes."

"What's the idea!" exclaimed the king's aunt coming in just then. "I bought it at the china store for fifty cents. I've been cheated!"

"It must have bounced in there when Puff lost it," said Juggle Jump. "Well, that's button number one, anyway."

And without another word he put the king's butter-dish into his pocket and out he went, followed by the Twins.
